Says League Not Sure Preventative, But Would Tend To Prevent War

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Prompt and unreserved ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations was urged upon the senate today by Senator Pomerene of Ohio, democratic member of the foreign relations committee.

He said the league was not a sure preventative of wars, but would tend to prevent war, and could be attended

200,000 MINERS STRIKE

More Quit Work in Nottinghamshire—Sheffield Industries Hit Hard

LONDON, July 21.—As a protest against the increase of six shillings in the price of coal, which came into effect today following the refusal of the men to accept a compromise on wage and other questions thousands of miners in the main field district of Nottinghamshire refused to go down in the pit. Men in other districts were expected to do likewise, despite the recommendation by the federation in all districts that work be continued until the government settled the question of piece rates growing out of the increase in price. Some 200,000 miners are out in Yorkshire.

Sheffield Industries Hit Hard

LONDON, July 21.—A staggering blow has been struck the Sheffield industries by the strike in the Yorkshire coal fields, says a despatch to the Evening Times. Thousands of hands were thrown out of work today by the stoppage of the engineering works in Sheffield, which announced that because of the shortage of coal they would remain closed until the end of the strike. Before the end of the week it is feared that all the large works will be shut down.

Many surface workers at the mines in South Wales are on strike for the same shorter hours as those granted the miners, and for extra pay for week ends. A number of other strikes in various parts of the coal fields, are reported. One colliery in South Wales has been closed because of alleged harsh treatment of the men, while at another the men are striking for the maintenance of the custom by which they were supplied with coal at nominal prices for their homes. A general strike is threatened on this question.

The proposed increase of six shillings per ton for coal, announced by the government, will make the best quality cost 32 shillings 6 pence in London, with a bottom price of 16 shillings 6 pence.

Dines Flooded

LONDON, July 21.—Three mines in the Yorkshire district are flooded and 12 others are likely to be filled with water in a day or two, Premier Lloyd George announced today in the house of commons as a result of the pumpmen's strike. Some of the mines, he said, would be ruined.

The government is sending men from the fleet to aid in pumping out the mines.

Service Resumed on Lines of the Boston Elevated System This Morning

Men Get 62 Cents an Hour—Highest Paid Carmen in World—8 Hour Day

BOSTON, July 21.—Car service on the lines of the Boston Elevated system was resumed today after an interruption of four days. The carmen, who struck on Thursday at 4 a. m. as a protest against the delay of the war labor board in adjusting their grievances, returned to their duties at the corresponding hour today, with the assurance of an eight-hour day and increases of pay up to 62 cents an hour. They were receiving 45 cents and had asked for 75 cents an hour.

SURVEY OF PUBLIC SCHOOL CHILDREN

Another innovation for Lowell's schools is due to go into effect next year, according to the copy of a recent legislative act received today by City Clerk Stephen Flynn. This act will provide for a survey of the children attending the public schools with the purpose of ascertaining how many of them are retarded in their mental development, and if it is found that there are ten or more at any one time in the city, the school committee will be called upon to make provisions for a special class for them.

The methods by which the school department will determine when a child is behind in mental development will be prescribed by the state board of education and a recently appointed state mental development commission. The act applies to all children of school age. Lowell will be affected by it in September, 1920, the opening of the school year.

The Pawtucket Bridge

Employees of the street department will begin paving the new Pawtucket bridge tomorrow and the job should be completed in short order, according to Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy. For the past several weeks the preliminary work of excavating, etc., has been going on and there has been some delay to the progress of the job owing to the changing of the rails of the street railway company. Now, however, all obstacles have been eliminated and in a few weeks the cries of protest about the dust blowing from the bridge surface will be no more.

About Absent Voting

Lowell men who are not in Lowell on Nov. 4, next, the date of the state election, but who are registered voters of this city at that time, will have an opportunity to take advantage of the recently passed "absent voting" legislative act, City Clerk Stephen Flynn was informed today. The election provision of the act is that at least two cities intervene between Lowell and the place whence the absent voter wishes to send his ballot. For instance, a Lowell man in Lawrence will not be able to take advantage of the new act, because there are not two cities between Lowell and Lawrence. If he is in Boston, however, the act will hold good. He will have to apply to the registrars of voters in Lowell before the date of the state election to have a ballot sent him. This ballot will be termed the "official absent ballot" and will be like the regular ballot except in color. Owing to the fact that Plan B charter is to be on the ballot at the state election it is probable that a number of Lowell men who are out of town on election day will be sufficiently interested to exercise their new right.

More Bonus Applications

They're still coming for application blanks for the $100 state gratuity awarded to service men at city hall. There was quite a decrease in the number this morning—not more than 20 up to noon—but Mayor Thompson will continue to give the blanks out as long as there is any demand. He will give them from his own office and will be there until 5:30 p. m. every day.

Nomination Papers Arrive

Prospective local candidates for state offices this fall will be interested in the fact that City Clerk Flynn received a quota of nomination papers this morning from the secretary of the commonwealth. Papers for both state offices and delegates to the state convention may be obtained from Mr. Flynn.

PRES. WILSON ORDERED TO BED

Returned to Washington Today From Week End Cruise to Hampton Roads

Condition Not Serious, 'But Will Be Unable To Receive Callers For Few Days

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President Wilson returned to Washington early today from a weekend cruise to Hampton Roads and was immediately ordered to bed by Rear Admiral Grayson, who announced that he was suffering with dysentery.

Admiral Grayson said the president's condition was not serious but that he probably would be unable to receive callers before the end of the week. Engagements which he had with a number of republican senators to discuss the peace treaty and the League of Nations were cancelled.

The president had been complaining of feeling badly for several days and when he started down the Potomac Saturday night on the Mayflower, it was supposed that he was suffering with a slight attack of indigestion. Senators who were to have called at the White House today were Edge of New Jersey, Norris of Nebraska, Cummins of Iowa and Calder of New York.

PERMANENT MEMORIAL TO LOWELL HERO

The memory of George Francis Henry Rogers, the first Lowell man to give up his life in the United States naval service during the world war, will be perpetuated by the navy department in the form of a permanent memorial at the naval training station at Newport, R. I., where the gallant Lowell sailor received his training for the career to which he ultimately gave his life.

Notification to this effect has been received by Rogers' father, Michael H. Rogers of 33 Humphrey street. A photograph of his son will be placed at the training station, together with those of other naval heroes. The following extract from a letter received by Mr. Rogers from the naval authorities, tells the object of the proposed memorial. The letter was written to return to Mr. Rogers a photograph of his son which he had loaned the naval officials:

"Copies have been made of the photograph and one will be placed at the training station where the deceased prepared for the navy and whose memory of duty and supreme sacrifice will always be remembered by the men of the service. It is believed that this memorial will not only perpetuate the memory of these men who heroically gave their lives in the service of their country, but will also be an inspiration to the young men, who, in the years to come, will enter the station to train for the United States navy, the traditions and honor of which this young man and others so nobly upheld."

Inscribed on the photo which is to be kept as a memorial is the following: George Francis Henry Rogers, Fireman, 3d, U.S.N., Killed When U.S.S. Jacob Jones Was Torpedoed, Dec. 8, 1917.

It will be recalled that Rogers lost his life when the destroyer Jacob Jones was sunk by a German submarine after being stationed on that vessel but a short time. He had previously been on U.S.S. St. Louis and was in the service only six months when he met his fate.

SENATORS CLASH ON SHANTUNG

Williams Charges Republicans With Submitting Erroneous Statistics

Lodge and Borah Deny Charges—Lodge Reiterates Japan Given Control

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senate debate on the peace treaty was renewed today with a sharp controversy among Senators Williams, democrat, and Lodge and Borah, republicans, over the Shantung settlement.

Senator Williams charged that the republicans in recent addresses had submitted erroneous statistics regarding Shantung, but both Senators Lodge and Borah denied this and Senator Lodge reiterated that while Japan secured territorial control only over Shantung ports, the German railroad and other concessions transferred gave her practical control over the entire province.

Senator Borah asserted that the practical effect of the Shantung provision was to deliver both political and economic sovereignty over the province to Japan.

Referring to Senator Borah's recent statement that financial interests favored the treaty, Senator Williams declared that sometimes the money power is selfish, I thank God they are contributing to the peace of the world.

Demand for the regular order of business by Senator Thomas, democrat, Colorado, closed the discussion, and delivery of set speeches on the treaty was begun, with Senator Pomerene, democrat, Ohio, arguing for ratification of the pact by the senate.

Before the debate began, Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, offered a resolution which would require the foreign relations committee to open to the public all its sessions at which the treaty was considered except when such subjects came up as would, in the committee's judgment, demand executive sessions in the public interest. Senator Lodge blocked consideration of the resolution.

O.M.I. CADETS OFF TO MILLIGAN'S GROVE

The 1919 tour of encampment of the O. M. I. Cadets got under way this afternoon when the doughty Belvidere soldiers picked up their packs and made for Milligan's grove, Wilmington via two special electric.

The start was made shortly after 1.15 from the Cadet armory in High street and nearly 150 uniformed youngsters were ready when the call came to board the cars. Nearly a score of overseas men were with the soldiers, Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., founder and spiritual director of the organization, was on hand to see that nothing went amiss and he was assisted by the officers.

The cadets will be in camp until Saturday and a most interesting program has been arranged. The veterans of the world war will give instructions culled from their European experiences. Col. Francis Rallis is in charge of the regiment and former Major William F. Conroy will supervise the military instruction. Francis E. Gargan, former adjutant, will take care of the physical welfare of the boys and Joseph F. Boyd, another former major, will be business manager of the expedition.

John O'Connell will be camp cook and the cadets were looking forward to a week of invigorating "bais" when his name was mentioned. Raymond J. Crowley will be publicity agent of the encampment. A nurse and doctor will be on hand in case of accidents. Several "special days" have been arranged to take place during the tour of duty and include an O'Sullivan day and Thursday when the parents and relatives of the soldiers will be their guests and skidmin day on Friday when the Wilmington woods will resound with fanciful shot and shell. The cadets will receive communion on Friday morning.

Calls on State Department for Facts on Depredations Against Americans in Mexico

Bolsheviks Hold Swedish Officials

STOCKHOLM, July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The Bolshevik government at Petrograd refused to release five members of the Swedish legation at Petrograd, recently arrested, it was announced here today. An official of the Swedish foreign office said it was his belief representatives of other nations at Petrograd probably would be arrested.

The members of the Swedish legation arrested were two men and five women typists. Sweden protested but the Bolshevik government replied that the arrests were based on violations of laws and that the plea of diplomatic immunity could not be recognized. Answering a renewed protest the Bolshevik government said only three persons were arrested.

The names of all those in charge of diplomatic archives at foreign legations in Petrograd have appeared in lists of executions published daily by Petrograd newspapers, according to a recent despatch from Helsinki.

U. S. ACTS TO END RACE RIOTS

Army Provost Guard Restored to Duty by Sec. Baker at Washington

Negroes and White in Bitter Clashes—Many Injured Now in Hospitals

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The federal government intervened today to prevent a recurrence of the attacks made Saturday and Sunday nights by soldiers, sailors and marines against negroes on white women in this city. After a conference between Secretary Baker and the local governing authorities, the army provost guard was restored to duty.

Two hundred and fifty soldiers and marines will aid the police in patrolling the streets tonight. One hundred soldiers trained in police duty who were recently relieved from the provost guard have been recalled. Streets which were the scene of rioting in which scores of negroes were beaten will be kept clear of small gatherings.

No action curtailing the issuance of passes or the granting of furloughs for soldiers and marines stationed in and near Washington, is contemplated. The attacks by the service men on negroes were so general that uniformed negro policemen were detached from duty and sent home by the authorities.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Police and hospital records today showed scores of negroes were injured in the widespread clashes between whites and negroes here last night. More than a dozen negroes, some of them suffering from severe beatings at the hands of mobs, were treated at hospitals and scores were cared for at their homes.

The rioting which began shortly after 10 o'clock, lasted until early this morning and although many arrests were made, so widely scattered were the outbreaks, that the police and a detail of provost guards were unable to cope with the situation. Riot calls came in from several sections in rapid succession, and the entire police reserve was kept on the jump practically all night.

Most of the injured negroes were set upon singly or in pairs but the more serious of the clashes were between mobs and negroes who assembled in crowds at several points. Clubs and stones were used freely, but fists were the principal weapons.

At times the mobs reached the proportion of a thousand and more persons and in a number of cases policemen who sought to aid negro victims of the attacks were overwhelmed. In several instances, negroes were pulled from street cars along Pennsylvania avenue and beaten into unconsciousness. Soldiers, sailors and marines were said by the police to have been leaders in the disorders.

Private Edward A. McGurn gave his mother, brothers and sisters an agreeable surprise Sunday afternoon when he reached their home, 110 South Walker street. They had been notified that he had reached Camp Merritt, N. J., on July 15 but had no information as to when he would return home.

With a large company of various units he came from Camp Merritt to Devens and was given an opportunity to visit his friends in Lowell, provided he would be at camp this morning. The men will be discharged today and tomorrow. He returned on the U.S.S. South Bend, having left St. Lázare July 5 and landed at Hoboken July 15.

Private McGurn was a member of Co. C, 302nd Machine Gun company, before leaving Camp Devens for France. Continued to Page Three

TO SEND URGENT REPRESENTATION

Attack on American Sailors by Mexicans Arouses Washington

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Urgent representations by the state department as the result of the attack on American sailors in a small boat from the monitor Cheyenne, near Tampico, July 6, were expected by officials here to bring prompt action by the Mexican government.

Meanwhile further details of the attack were awaited by both the navy and state departments.

No reply had been received early today from the commander of the cruiser Topoka at Tampico, who was instructed Saturday by Secretary Daniels to make a full report. This report was expected to develop the character of the band which held up and robbed the sailors while they were on official duty. First accounts of the incident referred to the assailants as "bandits" but in the light of previous information that government forces had been in complete control of the Tampico district for some time, officials desired further information on this point.

Secretary Daniels said today no part of the Pacific fleet, now en route to the west coast would be diverted to Mexican waters, adding that if additional forces were needed, they would be drawn from the Atlantic fleet. The cruiser Topoka, the gunboat Castine and the Cheyenne are now on duty at or near Tampico.

A dispatch to the state department today from Tampico said bandits had robbed the Atlantic Refining Co.'s oil loading station at Puerto Lobos, near Tampico, of about $10,000 last Wednesday. The funds were intended for the company's payroll.

A number of senators and representatives called at the state department to discuss the situation with Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico. A resolution proposing investigation of the situation in Mexico is now pending in the house.

The senate foreign relations committee today unanimously reported a resolution by Senator King, democrat, Utah, asking the state department for full information as to depredations against American merchants in Mexico during recent years.

The resolution would ask the state department for the following information:

What steps or measures are being taken to prosecute claims made by American citizens for damages in Mexico since the retirement of Porfirio Diaz.

The amount of claims filed with the department for damages in Mexico. Full information as to the confiscation of American property in Mexico.

How many Americans have been compelled to leave Mexico on account of disorder.

The value of American property abandoned in Mexico because of disorder.

The number of American citizens now in Mexico and the amount of their property.

In any previous season. There are three grounds under the supervision of the park commission this year—the North common, South common and Chambers street. The North and South commons are taking care of 300 children each on an average every day, while the Chambers street ground, of smaller dimensions, is providing supervised play for 100 or more youngsters every day.

Projecting itself strongly from the mass of impressions one receives from such a tour is the essential need of shower baths in more of Lowell's schoolhouses, especially those located

CARSON'S OPPOSITION IS AIDING IRISH CAUSE

BOSTON, July 21.—Thomas R. Mahony, chairman of the organization committee on Irish freedom, told the members of the Bishop Cheevers assembly yesterday, at the Columbus club in Dorchester, that the movement for Ireland's freedom was making tremendous progress.

"The most striking proof that the movement is succeeding is Sir Edward Carson's renewed activity against the cause," declared Mr. Mahony.

Resolutions were passed demanding the suppression of an alleged British propaganda in this country and the championing of the Irish cause by the United States. Daniel Foley, of the "Trades" union college also spoke. Thomas O'Dowd of New York and William J. McDavitt, Jr., rendered songs.

"Sir Edward Carson has again donned his armor of alleged love of the empire, and is seen hurling his venomous shafts at everybody and everything that threatens the territorial integrity of his beloved mother land," continued Mr. Mahony.

"Since 1914 when home rule threatened Ireland, and when Carson and his associates promised to kick the king's crown into the Borneo, if the third home rule bill was to be applied to Ulster, he has not again now curdled the atmosphere with his sour breath of hatred and falsehood."

"His return to the stump at least shows that Carson fears the actuality of recognition by England of the Irish republic. While in 1914 his efforts paralyzed the British government, England at that time was not in the position she now occupies toward this country. Carson's attack is now directed against this country. The more he rants, the more adherents Ireland's cause secures, and the more quickly England will be forced to take drastic and already too long delayed action against the petulant stubbornness of northeast Ulster."

"Carson says for this country to mind its own business, Carson was a member of Lloyd George's cabinet in 1917 and 1918 when England, through Raitor, Northcliffe, Smith and Reading, came begging for help; when Lloyd George said that the outcome of the war depended upon a race between time and America; when Marshal Haig pleaded with his troops to hold, with their backs to the wall, hoping and praying for America to come."

"Would to God that Carson had then said for America to mind her own business. But no, England's safety, Carson's hide, democracy and civilization, the rights of small nations were loudly proclaimed as America's business. America was prayed to, beseeched, berated; every method used to convince her that it was her solemn duty to enter the war for 'small nations.' If Carson ever attempted such a remark in 1917 or 1918 I doubt that he would have lived to repeat it in 1919."

VICTORY FETE ON THE OLD HINDENBURG LINE

PARIS, Sunday, July 20.—A victory fete was given today at Coucy le Chateau, on the old Hindenburg line, for thousands of returned refugees who were unable to participate in the celebration in Paris. The celebration was arranged by the American committee for devastated France under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Dike and Miss Anne Morgan, assisted by the Knights of Columbus.

General Pershing sent an American band and Marshal Petain a French to assist in the celebration. After a parade games and dancing were provided for the refugees who had been transported from a wide area by special trains and motor trucks.

L Strike Ends

Endicott, former chairman of the state public safety committee; James H. Vaher, counsel for the carmen's union, and H. Ware Barnum, counsel for the public trustees of the railway company. Union officials said the award embodied the best conditions ever given carmen in the United States.

Normal business and traffic conditions returned with the resumption of service. Extra service on the steam railroads was continued today, however.

7000 Share in Increase

The wage increases granted in the award will affect nearly 7000 motormen, conductors, guards and brakemen, while the shortened hours of labor will benefit the company's entire working force of 7500. Samuel L. Powers, a member of the board of public trustees, estimated the wage increases would add about $2,500,000 to the expense of the system. He said that if the people would ride as freely under the 10-cent fare, which was adopted on July 10, as they did under the eight-cent rate, the company could pay the new scale.

Scenes at Mass Meeting

At a mass meeting of the 7000 or more employees of the Boston Elevated at the Parkman bandstand on the common yesterday afternoon the strike on the road was declared "off."

It was an extraordinary scene when the vote was taken at 6:20 p. m. after the terms on which the arbitration board had agreed had been read by Henry E. Endicott and explained by James H. Vaher and H. Ware Barnum—the other members of the board.

The vote was unanimous, for, as James H. Vaher said: "By the terms of the agreement the conditions of work, the wages and the hours are the best of any street railway system in the world."

Order Work Resumed

After the vote had been taken Pres. Higgins of the Carmen's union asked that all who could conveniently report for duty last evening should report so as to have the road in readiness for work at as early an hour as possible and that in any event work should be resumed at 4 o'clock this morning by those who were accustomed to report for duty at that hour and all others at the hours they had been accustomed to report.

Then came a wild scene for a few moments when Pres. Higgins declared the meeting adjourned. There were

"I ADVISE EVERY SICK WOMAN"

To Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I advise every suffering woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it has done me so much good. I had female weakness, inflammation, pains in my sides and painful periods. I suffered for six years and tried many remedies without benefit. The doctor said I must have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and since taking it I am cured and have a nice baby four months old. I feel like a new woman, and have recommended your medicine to my friends. I would be glad to have everybody know what your medicine did for me, and if any write to me I will answer all letters."

Mrs. MARY CALLENDER, 317 South Main St., Herkimer, N.Y.

Every woman at some period or other in her life may suffer from just such disturbances as Mrs. Calender, and if there is no interested friend to advise, let this be a reminder that this famous root and herb remedy has been overcoming these ailments of women for more than 40 years. If any complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

cheers and cheers and the band played "Rally Round the Flag." Then the officers of the union and the members of the arbitration board walked down the steps of the bandstand and the moment Mr. Endicott reached the last step he was lifted on the shoulders of several stalwart motormen and held there where all could see him smiling and holding on for dear life while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Then Mr. Vaher was accorded the same treatment, as were Pres. Higgins and Mr. Barnum.

Crowd at Meeting
That was the end of a rather tense hour, for besides the employees of the road there were present fully 5000 others, who seemed to be just as keenly interested in the proceedings as the employees who had been on strike for four days.

The regular Sunday afternoon band concert on the common had attracted a vast concourse of people for two hours before the carmen's meeting. When that concert was over at 5:10 p. m. a procession of soldiers and sailors, carrying the banner of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees and two American flags, marched on the bandstand and got a great cheer. Then another band appeared and began playing popular airs.

A group from the Medford car barns appeared carrying a banner on which was inscribed: "Medford Car Barns—50 in the Service—Are They Bolshevik or Germans, Mr. Whiteside?"

That was a signal for a demonstration by the 200 or more soldiers and sailors on and around the bandstand—men of the Boston Elevated who had served in the war.

The retail milk business in Lowell today is a problem. The dealers are in a quandary as to what to do as far as the price is concerned. Last week they were notified by the producers that, beginning Monday, July 21, the price of milk at wholesale would be increased according to the distance of carting, and the various prices announced by the producers meant an average increase of about seven cents a can. The dealers protested and informed the producers that they would not pay the prices asked. The producers came back with a threat that unless the prices asked were paid, the milk would be allowed to remain on the farms.

LOCAL MILK PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED

It was learned this morning that although no agreements were signed between the producers and the retailers, the latter were still doing business, but were in a quandary as to the price they are to charge. Most of the dealers informed The Sun, however, that they had not yet increased their prices. One man stated that, beginning tomorrow, he will retail his milk at 15 cents a quart to family trade. Osterman & Gilman, proprietors of the Burbeck milk business, stated that although they were selling at a loss, they would not increase their prices until Aug. 1 unless the dealers got together and decided otherwise. They stated that they are now receiving 14 cents a quart for their milk and with the new schedule of prices they have to pay for their milk, if present retail prices prevail, they will be doing business at a loss.

The Turner Centre Creamery Co. stated that they have been selling at a loss in Lowell since July 1, and they will continue doing so until some definite action is taken by the local dealers. They claim they have been buying milk on the new schedule of prices since July 1, but in order to avoid competition they made no changes in their prices locally, although in all the other cities where the company is doing business they raised the price of milk July 1.

The whole matter may be thrashed out this evening at a meeting to be held in Odd Fellows hall, Bridge street. One dealer stated that perhaps the increase would be one cent and a half a quart, for it is expected that the producers will ask for another increase the first of next month. It may be, however, all the retail milk dealers of Lowell are on the job as usual today and there is no scarcity of milk in this city.

STIFF SENTENCES FOR LYNCHERS

BAY MINETTE, Ala., July 19.—For the first time in the history of Alabama convictions and pleas of guilty were entered in a case in which a white man was the victim of a mob yesterday, when in the Baldwin County court two men were convicted of complicity in the murder and given state prison sentences, while 23 other members of the band entered pleas of guilty. Ten of those pleading guilty were given fines or sentences to hard labor, while the cases of the other 13 will be taken up when court reconvenes Monday.

The case was that of Frank Foukal, who was shot to death in his cell in jail, where he was being held on a charge of murder. Local authorities immediately began seeking those responsible for the crime, with the result that more than 30 persons were arrested. The convictions and pleas of guilty came yesterday, only a few weeks after the attack took place.

Sam Andrew and Louis Bishop, the two men convicted, were given prison sentences of 10 and 15 years, respectively. One other was acquitted on a plea of insanity and a fourth was adjudged insane before coming to trial.

The fines given 10 of those pleading guilty ranged from $100 to $1000, while others received both fines and sentences of six months at hard labor.

POLK SAILS FOR FRANCE

Goes To Take Place of Secretary Lansing at Peace Conference

NEW YORK, July 21.—Frank L. Polk, under secretary of state, sailed today on the steamship Imperator for France to take the place of Secretary Lansing at the peace conference. He declined to discuss the Mexican situation and said he would not be in wireless communication with Mr. Lansing on the way across.

Mr. Polk was accompanied by his wife and two children and a staff of assistants. Vice Admiral Albert Gleaves, commander of the naval transport force, visited the under secretary to pay his respects before the Imperator departed. Mr. Polk expected to have a conference here with Secretary Lansing before he sailed, but his chief, who is aboard the steamship Rotterdam, will not reach New York before Wednesday.

Mr. Polk said he could not discuss the Mexican situation because it was entirely in the hands of Acting Secretary Phillips, pending Mr. Lansing's return.

Local Playgrounds

near the playgrounds. The Elliot school and the high school are practically the only buildings with such facilities and all three playgrounds have to depend on the former building for shower baths for their youngsters. The long walk entailed in going from the North to the South common and returning practically offsets what benefit may be derived from the baths themselves and many of the children of the former playground have expressed themselves unwilling to make the journey.

The Chambers street ground is more conveniently located to the Elliot school than the North common, but even here much more benefit might be gotten from the showers if they were located in the Butler school, practically adjacent to the grounds.

The South Common

Thomas A. Ginty, a veteran at playground work, is in charge of the South common playground and no less than 500 happy, healthy youngsters come under his care daily. A big attraction here is the renovated bathing pool which has been finished with a cement bottom and artistic surroundings. The children are fond of disporting in the water and although there is little danger of accidents owing to the shallow water, Mr. Ginty tries to keep an eye on the youngsters when he gets a little freedom from the other calls for his personal attention. Contrary to the custom of previous years, Mr. Ginty has not yet had the assistance of another man instructor, but hopes to have one in a short time.

The usual program of setting up exercises, baseball, volley ball, track events, etc., comprises the major portion of the work for the boys. Four well organized baseball teams are under way and there have already been some exciting contests with nines from the other playgrounds.

The girls of this section of the city are learning the latest wrinkles in sewing, knitting, etc., under the direction of a competent corps of lady instructors. Miss Louise F. Mahoney, Miss Muriel Leach, Miss Charlotte Green and Miss Harriet McAloon see to it that the young ladies are properly supervised. Various semi-athletic games suitable for girls are also carried out under the direction of the supervisors.

A series of swings, teetlers and sandbanks are included in the equipment of the South common and all are in constant use.

The North Common

On the North common Paul Conway reigns supreme as head supervisor. The women supervisors are the Misses Grace McCue, Natalie M. McQuaid, Helen Castles and Mae Sullivan. The daily program is much the same as on the South common and the attendance, if anything, is more cosmopolitan.

Chambers Street Grounds

The Chambers street playground is located at the junction of Newhall and Chambers streets and John E. Lawrenson is in charge. Miss Mary Reardon and Miss Annie E. Reynolds are in charge of the girls. The usual equipment with the addition of a shade shelter is found here, although the natural protection from the sun of the waving trees of the North and South commons is missing. About 100 youngsters disport here daily and one of the features of the boys' department is a thriving basketball team. The girls are progressing very rapidly in their sewing under the direction of Miss Reardon and Miss Reynolds sees that they get plenty of physical exercise.

Shower Bath Schedule

The shower baths at the Elliot school are in charge of Charles J. McCabe. The girls of the South common have their turn on Mondays and Thursdays from 2 to 4:30 p. m., while the boys go on the same days from 9 to 11:15 in the morning. The North common girls have the showers to themselves on Tuesday and Friday afternoons and the boys Tuesday and Friday mornings. The Chambers street girls go Wednesday morning and the boys Wednesday afternoon.

The playgrounds are under supervision on five days a week from 9 to 11 and 2 to 4. They will continue until the latter part of August when a closing day entertainment will be held. A suggestion emanating from Director Ginty of the South common grounds, is that some sort of a shelter be provided for the girls for dressing purposes near the South common wading pool. The boys are able to take care of themselves, but the girls have to travel to the Elliot school when they want to enjoy the pool. Mr. Ginty says that a small tent would suffice for the purpose.

CAPITAL BELLES WHO'LL DAZZLE THE PRINCE

The Prince of Wales might find a bride in America on his forthcoming visit—and then again, he may find that not all his royal titles will win a heart in America. But Albert will meet in Washington some of America's most charming beauties. And Washington society is learning to curtsy and studying up on the proper greetings for royalty. Three of the girls here shown, Miss Harding, Miss Brown and Miss Simonds, were picked as the prettiest at the southern relief ball given recently in Washington. The others, the daughter of Representative Bankhead and the daughters of Secretary Glass, are among the most popular in social circles.

PROHIBITION DEBATE

Attempt To Make It Unlawful To Possess Liquors in Own House Storm Centre

WASHINGTON, July 21.—An effort to have a provision in the bill making it unlawful for a person to possess liquors in his own dwelling was expected to be the storm centre of debate today in the house when consideration of prohibition enforcement legislation was resumed. Members who announced they would attempt to have the bill amended with this point in view declared the measure as framed permitted hoarding by wealthy persons, thousands of whom are said to have stored in their homes enough wines and whiskey to last them a lifetime.

Other members were said to feel that the drys had gone about as far as it was wise to go, as to make the legislation too drastic would only bring it into contempt and thereby defeat the ends to which the prohibitionists are working. Still others were objecting to the action of the majority in rushing through the bill as they saw no need for haste in view of the delay that is found to ensue before the senate is ready to take up the bill.

Back From Over There

In July of last year, after having been ten months in training. He went with the 76th Division and his first assignment with the forces was at Lunery Cher, where the regimental machine gun headquarters were located. From that center he had been engaged in various operations, sometimes going a considerable distance in various lines of service. Finally he was transferred to the 41st Division and still later after most of the other units had returned home, he was attached to the 16th Railroad Transportation Corps, his duty being to convey railroad trains carrying supplies. In this duty he had considerable experience over lines running through France and in some cases through the battlefields where the bodies of dead Germans still were unburied.

He had opportunities to spend some time in Paris and on one of his visits he went through the Hall of Mirrors where the peace treaty was signed. He met several Lowell boys in Paris, most of whom have now returned home. While there he visited the Knights of Columbus headquarters and was agreeably surprised to see John W. Daly of this city in charge of sending out supplies to the soldiers on requisitions. Mr. Daly proved very kind to the Lowell boys and seemed to be a highly popular and efficient secretary in discharging the good things provided by the Knights of Columbus. Everything was free and soldiers of every nationality were welcomed, no discrimination being made on account of creed or race.

The K. of C. station, of which Mr. Daly had charge, was located at the Place de la Madeleine, Paris. Private McGurn speaks very highly of the service of the Red Cross. Whenever a soldier called at the Red Cross restaurants, he could procure a good meal for 25 cents if he had the money and if he had no money, he got the meal just the same. When the soldiers came in after long terms in the trenches and from other duties in the battlefields and in need of a regular cleaning up, they were always sure to receive the best of attention at the Red Cross quarters. Every man in such cases got a bath and a new set of underclothes without charge. The soldiers appreciated this perhaps as highly as anything else that was done for them in the line of gratuitous service.

Among the boys mentioned by Private McGurn were William Muldoon of Pleasant street, who has arrived home, and Sgt. Harry Chase, a former marmalade man on the Bay State road; Charles Sadler of Keene street, he says, has arrived from overseas and is awaiting discharge at a New York camp.

DENIES RECEIVING FEE

Williams Demands Accuser Be Summoned Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, July 21.—John Skelton Williams, comptroller of the currency, denied today before the senate banking committee, charged by Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania, that he had received a fee in connection with the sale of the Arlington hotel site here to the government. Mr. Williams demanded that the congressional committee which is considering the comptroller's resignation. Chairman McLean said Mr. McFadden had been asked to appear.

Comptroller Williams declared he felt "deep indignation that any member of congress would make charges of that kind without the slightest ground or foundation for them and then, when notified to come before the committee, failed to appear."

He said he hoped the Pennsylvania congressman would not place himself in the position of a "licensed slanderer" under cover of being a member of congress and mark characters before a house committee that he "dare not make before a senate committee."

CLEMENCEAU TRIES PEOPLE IN MEUSE DISTRICT TO HAVE PATIENCE

PARIS, Sunday, July 21. (Havas.)—Premier Clemenceau spent today in the Meuse district where he listened to the expressions of leaders there on economic re-construction work. He asked the people to have patience and not to despair. France, he said, would be rebuilt in all her grandeur and historic nobility.

BODY OF MURDERED SOLDIER REACHES PARIS

PARIS, July 21.—The body of Sergt. Paul Mannheim of the French army who was murdered in Berlin on July 13, arrived in Paris today.

The French government recently sent a note to Berlin demanding one million francs indemnity for the murder and an additional sum for Mannheim's family. Germany refused to pay the indemnity, but pointed out that in the apology forwarded before receipt of the French note she had agreed to recompense the family, and offered to leave the matter to a mixed court of arbitration.

FATALLY INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

MELROSE, July 21.—A light delivery motor truck descending the Grove street hill today crashed into a tree, injuring Edward Lewis probably fatally. William Ferguson, the operator of the car, is thought to have internal injuries. Two other boys who were riding with Lewis and Ferguson, were also taken to the hospital. They will recover.

HAD GUN HANDY TO PROTECT PROPERTY

Two or three glasses of rye whiskey and an old "musket," which might have been in use in the days of '61, were mostly to blame for James McCausland's appearance in police court today.

According to Sergt. Frawley, he had heard several complaints about James and his trusty "weapon," which James was said to have been pointing at several of his neighbors, and had paid him a visit last Friday. He found him sitting on his doorsteps munching away on some crackers and cheese and the musket and a box of cartridges ready at hand. The officer came to the conclusion that James had taken a wee bit too much of the cup that cheers and accordingly escorted him to the station where he was booked for drunkenness.

"Nothing of the kind," declared James, when called to take the stand. "I wasn't drunk, Your Honor. Far from it. Sure, I had two or three little nips of rye whiskey that day, but that wouldn't make a man drunk. The gun? Why, I keep that gun to protect my property. In these times a man had got to be prepared for trouble."

Judge Pickman talked things over with James at some length and finally ordered him placed on probation for six months, and the gun and cartridges were confiscated.

Other Offenders

Martin F. Brady, a young man of this city, was charged with robbing Joseph M. Melo of $70 in cash and a watch on the evening of June 28. A continuance was granted until Friday, bail being set at $100. Brady pleaded not guilty. According to the police, Brady is one of three young men who are alleged to have backed Melo up against a building on Hall street on the night in question and forced him to ante up. The police are searching for the other two men, but as yet have been unable to locate them.

Three men charged with drunkenness had their cases disposed of as follows: Dennis Lynch, one month in jail; Michael F. McDermott, one month in jail, and James E. Grand, one month in jail, suspended.

NAVAL RECRUITING

One man was forwarded from the Lowell naval recruiting station today. He was John Sherlock, 173 Middlesex street and signed up as apprentice seaman.

FIRE IN BAY STATE STORAGE BUILDING

Rats and matches were responsible for a little fire scare at the Bay State Storage building in Jackson street early Sunday morning. When the blaze was discovered a telephone alarm was sent in. The protective company and District Chief Sullivan responded. Chemical extinguishers were used and the fire was soon under control and finally subdued. There was some damage to goods by smoke.

AUSTRIA GETS FULL TREATY

Reparation To Be Adjusted to Her Lessened Resources — Army Cut to 80,000

Must Restore Hapsburg's Loot of Centuries and Vessels Sunk

PARIS, July 21.—The full peace conditions of the allied and associated powers are now in the hands of the Austrians.

The first sections of the terms were presented to the Austrian delegates at St. Germain on June 2; the final sections were delivered to them at the same place yesterday without ceremony by M. Dufaure, secretary general of the peace conference.

The terms comprise the whole treaty which Austria is asked to sign, including the reparation, financial, military and certain other minor clauses, which were not ready for presentation when the official ceremony took place.

In an accompanying memorandum the Austrians are granted 15 days in which to make their final observations, although they have already submitted a large number of notes on the terms previously submitted to them.

Must Make Reparation
In addition to the published terms of June 2, the new clauses provide for reparation arrangements very similar to those in the treaty with Germany, including the establishment of an Austrian subsection of the reparations commission, the payment of a reasonable sum in cash, the issuing of bonds and the delivery of livestock and certain historical and art treasures.

The financial terms provide that the Austrian prewar debt shall be apportioned among the various former parts of Austria, and that the Austrian coinage and war bonds circulating in the separated territory shall be taken up by the new governments and re-deemed as they see fit.

Army Cut to 30,000
Under the military terms the Austrian army is henceforth reduced to 30,000 men on a purely voluntary basis.

Paragraph five, relating to the military, says that the Austrian army shall not exceed 30,000 men, including officers and depot troops. Within three months the Austrian military forces shall be reduced to this number, universal military service abolished and voluntary enlistment substituted, as part of the plan "to render possible the initiation of a general limitation of armaments of all nations."

Must Enlist for 12 Years
The army shall be used exclusively for the maintenance of internal order and control of frontiers. All officers must be regulars, those of the present army to be retained being under the obligation to serve until 40 years old; those newly appointed agreeing to at least 20 consecutive years of active service. Non-commissioned officers and privates must enlist for not less than 12 consecutive years, including at least six years with the colors.

Within three months the armament of the Austrian army must be reduced according to detailed schedules, and all surplus surrendered. The manufacture of all war material shall be confined to one single factory under the control of the state, and such establishments shall be closed down or converted. Importation and exportation of arms, munitions and war materials of all kinds is forbidden.

Responsibility for Damage
The allied and associated governments affirm and Austria accepts the responsibility of Austria and her allies for causing loss and damage to which the allied and associated governments and their nationals have been subjected as a consequence of the war imposed upon them by the aggression of Austria and her allies.

While recognizing that Austria's resources will not be adequate to make complete reparation, the allied and associated governments request, and Austria undertakes, that she will make compensation for damage done to civilians and their property in accordance with categories of damages similar to those provided in the treaty with Germany.

The amount of damage is to be determined by the reparations commission provided for in the treaty with Germany, which is to have a special section to handle the Austrian situation. The commission will notify Austria before May 1, 1921, of the extent of her liabilities and of the schedule of payments for the discharge thereof during a period of 30 years. It will bear in mind the diminutions of Austria's resources and capacity of payment resulting from the treaty.

Method of Reparation
As immediate reparation Austria shall pay during 1921, 1922 and the first four months in 1923 in such manner as provided by the reparations commission, "a reasonable sum which shall be determined by the commission."

Three bond issues shall be made, the first before May 21, 1921, without interest; the second at 2 1/2 per cent interest between 1921 and 1926, and thereafter at 5 per cent, with an additional 1 per cent for amortization, beginning in 1926; and a third at 5 per cent when the commission is satisfied that Austria can meet the interest and sinking fund obligations. The amount shall be divided by the allied and associated governments in proportions determined upon in advance on a basis of general equity.

The Austrian section of the reparations commission shall include representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Greece, Poland, Rumania, the Serbo-Slovene state and Czechoslovakia. The first four shall each appoint a delegate with two votes, and the other five shall choose one delegate each year to represent them all. Withdrawal from the commission is permitted on 12 months' notice. The allied and associated powers require and Austria undertakes that in part reparation she will devote her economic resources to the physical restoration of the invaded areas. Within 60 days of the coming into force of the treaty, the governments concerned shall file with the reparations commission lists of animals, machinery, equipment and the like destroyed by Austria and which the governments desire replaced in kind, and lists of the materials which they desire produced in Austria for the work of construction and which shall be reviewed in the light of Austria's ability to meet them.

To Give Up Many Animals
As an immediate advance as to animals, Austria agrees to deliver within three months after ratification of the treaty 4000 milch cows to Italy, and 1000 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1000 heifers to Italy, 300 to Serbia and 500 to Rumania; 50 bulls to Italy, and 25 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1000 calves to each of the three nations; 1000 bullocks to Italy, and 500 each to Serbia and Rumania; 2000 sows to Italy, and 1000 draft horses and 1000 sheep to both Serbia and Rumania.

Austria also agrees to give an option for five years as to timber, iron and magnesite in amounts as nearly equal to the pre-war importations as Austria's resources make possible.

She renounces in favor of Italy all cables touching territory assigned to Italy, and in favor of the allied and associated powers the others.

To Restore Historical Records
Austria agrees to restore all records, documents, objects of antiquity and art and all scientific and bibliographical material taken away from the invaded or ceded territories.

She will also hand over without delay all official records of the ceded territories and all records, documents and historical material possessed by public institutions and having a direct bearing on the histories of the ceded territories which have been removed during the past 10 years, except that for Italy the period shall be from 1851.

As to artistic, archaeological, scientific or historic objects formerly belonging to the Austro-Hungarian government or crown, Austria agrees to negotiate with the state concerned for an amicable arrangement for the return to the districts of origin on terms of reciprocity of any object which ought to form part of the intellectual patrimony of the ceded districts, and for 20 years to safeguard all other such objects for the free use of students.

The Loot of Centuries

As for special objects carried off by the house of Hapsburg and other dynasties from Italy, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia, a committee of three jurists, appointed by the reparations commission, is to examine within a year the conditions under which the objects were removed and to order restoration, if the removals were illegal. The list of articles includes among others:

For Tuscany, the crown jewels and part of the Medici heirlooms; for Modena, a "Virgin" by Andrea del Sarto and three manuscripts; for Palermo, 12th century objects made for the Norman kings; for Naples 98 manuscripts carried off in 1718; for Belgium, various objects and documents removed in 1794; for Poland, a gold cup of King Ladislaus IV, removed in 1772; and for Czechoslovakia various documents and historical manuscripts removed from the royal chateau of Prague.

Financial Terms

Paragraph Nine—Financial.
The first charge upon all the assets and revenues of Austria shall be the costs arising under the present treaty, including, in order of priority, the costs of the armies of occupation, reparations and other charges specifically agreed to, and, with certain exceptions, as granted by the reparations commission for payments for imports. Austria must pay the total cost of the armies of occupation from the armistice of Nov. 3, 1918, so long as maintained, and may export no gold before May 1, 1921, without consent of the reparations commission.

Each of the states to which Austrian territory is transferred and each of the states arising out of the dismemberment of Austria, including the republic of Austria, shall assume part of the Austrian pre-war debt specifically secured on railways, salt mines and other property, the amount to be fixed by the reparations commission on the basis of the value of the property so transferred. Similarly, the unsecured bonded pre-war debt of the former empire shall be distributed by the reparations commission in the proportion that the revenues for the three years before the war of the separated territory bore to those of the empire, excluding Bosnia and Herzegovina.

War Debt Limited to Austria

No territory formerly part of the empire, except the republic of Austria, shall carry with it any obligation in respect of the war debt of the former Austrian government; but neither the government of those governments nor their nationals shall have recourse against any other state, including Austria, in respect of war debt bonds held within their respective territories by themselves or their nationals.

The war debt held outside the former empire should be a charge on the republic of Austria alone. All war securities shall be stamped within two months with the stamp of the state taking them up, replaced by certificates, and settlement to the reparations commission.

The currency notes of the former Austro-Hungarian bank circulating in the separated territory shall be stamped within two months by the new governments of the various territories with their own stamp, replaced within 12 months by a new currency, and turned over within 14 months to the reparations commission. The bank itself shall be liquidated as from the day after the signature by the reparations commission.

States to which American territory was transferred and states arising from the dismemberment of Austria shall acquire all property within their territories of the old or new Austrian governments, including that of the former royal family. The value is to be assessed by the reparations commission and credited to Austria on the reparations account.

Property of predominant historic interest to the former kingdoms of Poland, Bohemia, Croatia, Slavonia, Dalmatia, Bosnia, Herzegovina, the republic of Ragusa, the Venetian republic, or the Episcopal principalities of Trent and Bressanone may be transferred without payment.

Austria renounces all rights to all international, financial or commercial organizations in allied countries, Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria, Turkey or the former Russian Empire. She agrees to appropriate on demand of the reparations commission any rights of her nationals in any public utility or concession in these territories, in separated districts and in mandatory territories, to transfer them to the commission within six months and to hold herself responsible for indemnifying her nationals so dispossessed.

Turkish Debt Gold

She also agrees to deliver within one month the gold deposited as security for the Ottoman debt, renounce any benefits accruing from the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk, and transfer to the allied and associated governments all claims against her former allies.

Any financial adjustments, such as those relating to banking and insurance companies, savings banks, postal savings banks, land banks or mortgage companies in the former monarchy necessitated by the dismemberment of the monarchy and the readjustment of public debts and currency shall be regulated by agreement between the various governments, failing which, the reparations commission shall appoint an arbitrator or arbitrators, whose decision shall be final.

Austria shall not be responsible for pensions of nationals of the former empire who have become nationals of other states.

Study Allies' Terms

PARIS, July 21.—Austria's delegates to the peace conference today had in their hands for study the complete peace conditions of the allies. The sections of the treaty which were incomplete when the terms were originally presented on June 2, were handed to the Austrian plenipotentiaries yesterday, without ceremony.

MATHEWS DEFEAT ST. PETER'S A.A.

One of the hardest fought ball games of the present season was played Saturday afternoon on the North common when the Mathews defeated their old rivals, St. Peter's A.A., in nine innings of sensational playing. The score was 7 to 2.

The Mathews forced to the front in the first inning with only one man out and were never headed. In the initial session they scored four runs on an error, a base on balls, a two-bagger and a home run. They scored again in the second, seventh and ninth innings for a total of seven. St. Peter's scored their two runs in the fifth on two hits and two errors. Throughout the rest of the game they were held entirely in check by the pitching of "Duke" Connors. He allowed but three hits in the entire nine stanzas. Features of the game were the batting of Bradbury and Manning of the Mathews, and the fielding of Patrick.

To Try To Swim English Channel

PARIS, July 21.—Norman Ross of San Francisco, who yesterday won the swimming match in the Seine across Paris, has informed the Excelsior that he intends to try to swim the English channel.

His victory yesterday was achieved in 1 hour and 30 minutes, for the distance of about 6500 metres, with Bacigalupo, the Italian swimmer, only four-fifths of a second behind, and Norris, Australia, a close third.

Ship Owners Frame Compromise

NEW YORK, July 21.—Ship owners today faced the problem of framing a compromise proposal to the demand of striking seamen for recognition of the union. An offer to give preferential employment to union seamen after men of American citizenship were given an opportunity to fill vacancies in crews, union leaders indicated, might be accepted, since all American seamen are union members.

It is estimated that half the shipping under the American flag is tied up in New York and other Atlantic ports. Estimates of the number of ships range from 500 to 800. According to the ship owners, about 250 American vessels are idle in New York harbor alone.

BANKER SAYS BUSINESS SOLID IN POLAND

NEW YORK, July 21.—One of the most stable governments in Europe—under Paderewski—and an army of half a million men, second to none, are the guarantees which Poland is offering to American business. Constantine Radkiewicz, a Warsaw banker, told reporters at the Plaza hotel yesterday that his country was not only ready to stand with her fine army as the European bulwark against Bolshevism but that business was already resuming in Warsaw and throughout the land.

"The sheer love of country which enabled Poland to survive a century of alien domination has set up a government and raised an army constituting a new nation on a firm basis," he said. "Poland is as large as France and as populous. Her resources in agriculture, mines and industry are extensive and varied. Even in the past American firms who have done business in Poland have done well."

Mr. Radkiewicz for many years represented the New York Life Insurance company in Poland and southern Russia. At present he is interested in many enterprises, chief of which is the water transport on the Vistula river and its tributaries from Danzig to Warsaw and all through Poland. His interests include large sugar beet estates and extend through Russia as far as the Persian border. On an island in the Caspian sea he has a mine of petrified petroleum from which valuable developments are already coming.

Cordial Toward America

Mr. Radkiewicz testifies to the cordial regard of all Poles for America. This, he says, began when Kosciuszko and Pulaski fought in the American Revolution, was built up as the four and a half millions of Polish emigrants in this country wrote home and praised the land of their adoption and culminated with the part America played in the world war, particularly with the aid she has already extended to Poland.

The German invasion of Poland stripped her almost completely of material facilities, cattle and horses. Nevertheless, Mr. Radkiewicz reports, the Polish farmers and their families have already returned to the farms and are working them through the peasant devotion to the soil. There will be something of a harvest this year, and he hopes that next year's crops will make Poland almost self-supporting.

She needs almost everything, however, beginning with fertilizer, farm implements and animals, and running through the whole scale of manufactured products and raw material. The spirit of Bolshevism has never found root in Poland, and the people are already at work with what tools they have at hand.

Mr. Radkiewicz made a vigorous denial of the reports that there had been pogroms in Poland.

"No more than there are in this room at the present moment," he replied quickly to a question. He explained that under former regimes the Jews had been crowded into the ghettos of the smaller cities and that naturally they had deteriorated. To some extent these wretched people were used by the Russian and German plotters. Mr. Radkiewicz asserts that the fullest liberties are now granted to the Jews, and that they are rapidly responding and taking an important part in the reconstruction of the country.

The Polish government has already established a credit of $100,000,000 with American bankers, but the proceeds of this loan are to be used largely for military purposes.

"It is essential that Poland have a good army," says Mr. Radkiewicz, "for we stand between the Teuton and the Bolshevik. We must protect our frontier. And that is the only purpose for which the army will be used. It is false to make charges of aggression against us for we are not a militarist people. Our army is efficient and well disciplined. It is filled with patriotic democrats, thousands of whom got their training in democracy in America."

Further advances will be necessary. Mr. Radkiewicz admits, in order to finance the needed industrial purchases, but, he says, the Polish government stands ready to guarantee all. In order that the value of Polish currency and exchange may be kept somewhere near normal until she is ready in two or three years to begin exporting on a scale that will maintain the standard without artificial aid.

Quick Action Necessary

Quick action, he says, is necessary that Poland may not be compelled to turn to the nearby German markets. She has no desire to do so, as evidenced by her efforts to buy in America. Nor, says Mr. Radkiewicz, should the Polish market be considered as limited to Poland itself. The tributaries of the Vistula extend across the Russian border into Lithuania and the Ukraine and the rail systems will do the same. Many Polish business men already have extensive interests in those lands. Not only is Poland the bulwark against Bolshevism but the key to the Russian market when Bolshevism has once been eliminated. The Germans, he says, realize this and are already sending their agents through the country, but these agents are handicapped by the hatred of the Polish people and by their inability to promise deliveries.

There is no greater national idol in the world than Paderewski, says Mr. Radkiewicz. He came to Paris and lived there with the premier for several days. In Poland he is looked upon as the national savior. In Paris he is no less popular. Before Paderewski arrived he had been set up in some of the liberated provinces.

"It was our best cure for Bolshevism," says Mr. Radkiewicz. "Though they lasted only 30 days every one who had anything to do with them will have nothing more."

"Who sells it cheapest?" you ask and this evening's issue of The Sun answers the question because each live merchant advertises in it.

BIG CHIEF TELLS HOW TO MAKE WAR BONNET

This is the second in a series of talks by Chief Tahhan to Lowell boys. These talks appear exclusively in The Sun.

BY CHIEF TAHHAN

Of Kiowa Indian Tribe

So you boys want the chief to tell you how to make war bonnets like the one he has? And you want to make them right away so that you can wear them today when you go out to play Indian, you say. All right, bring me tall feathers of the eagle, a piece of buckskin the size of your hat, some beads and sinew of a deer's leg—Oh! that's so, you haven't got those things. Well, then, we'll have to do the best we can. Get an old soft hat, a strip of bright figured cloth a foot long and an inch wide, a big needle and some coarse thread, a dozen or more of the longest feathers of any kind you can. Now, cut the brim of the hat off close to the crown. Saw the feathers an inch from the bottom edge of the crown this way: Run your needle through the butt end of each feather—but don't sew the feathers against the hat—leave about half an inch of thread between each one and the hat. Place the feathers about two inches apart—have enough to go all the way around the edge. Next, run your needle through the middle of each feather. Have the thread long enough to go through every one of them, and tie it. This will keep the feathers from flapping around in every direction. Now take your strip of cloth, long enough to go across your forehead from one ear to the other, and sew one edge of it to the edge of the hat. Tack the other edge of the cloth to the hat between the feathers, and there! You have your war bonnet!

In the old days, an Indian's war bonnet meant a good deal to him. For before he could put a single feather in it he had to do some good or brave deed, and he had to get permission of the tribe to make his feather bonnet. Every feather in it stood for something he had done! so that when a warrior was dressed up you could tell what kind of a man he was. It was a good deal like it with a boy scout. You can tell good things he has done by the badges he wears.

SACRED HEART PARISH LAWN PARTY

The ninth annual lawn party of the members of the Sacred Heart parish, held on the parish grounds in Moore street Saturday afternoon and evening, was easily the most successful ever carried out by the enterprising young men and women of that section of the city and attracted an attendance that at all times comfortably filled the spacious grounds.

The decorations were both tasteful and artistic and added much to the genuine success of the affair. The visitor was met at the grounds entrance by an arch of flags formed by Old Glory and the flag of the Irish republic. In the evening lighted incandescents, warming their way in and out among the various booths made the scene even more brilliant.

Once the visitor got within the grounds it seemed that he had arrived on a miniature Coney Island, with its bevy of amusement attractions. Nothing was missing from the encircling "razzle dazzle" wheel to "take your pick" tables where one might win anything from a stickpin to well, perhaps a pair of cuff links.

The good judgment of the parish authorities in holding the affair Saturday rather than on the Fourth of July, as had been the custom in past years, was evidenced by the exceptionally large crowd that visited the grounds during the afternoon and evening.

In the early part of the evening motion pictures were taken of those present on the grounds and these will be shown at the next lawn party. There was an informal program of sports carried out during the latter part of the afternoon in which the youngsters of the parish vied warmly with one another for honors. In the evening a program of melodramas contributed by local theatres was thrown on the screen under the direction of John Daly.

The booths about the grounds included a candy table, tonic table, ice cream table, tobacco store, doll table, lunch counter, chance table, ring table, where one might win varying sums of money if he were able to ring coins, race horses, etc.

Rev. James T. McDermott, O.M.I., was in general charge of the program and the other priests of the parish, including the pastor, Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., worked long and hard for the successful results that were everywhere in evidence Saturday. And the various committees which put much energetic and active effort into the affair must not be overlooked in the congratulations.

Many guests were present during the afternoon and evening and included Mayor and Mrs. Perry D. Thompson, Commissioner Charles J. Moran, former Commissioner Francis A. Warnock, Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., Rev. Edward Shea of Mobile, Ala., Rev. Francis McGann, O.M.I., Rev. T. Francis Curry, O.M.I., of Washington, D. C., and clergymen from the local parishes and surrounding towns.

It was announced at the close of the affair that the person holding the ticket numbered 132 in the barrel of flour contest and the ticket numbered 1269 in the mysterious package contest, were the winners. If the persons holding these numbers will call at the parish house they will be presented their prizes.

ANOTHER ARGUMENT FOR BACHELORS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 19.—That the tendency toward crime is greater among married persons than those leading a single life seems indicated by statistics gathered by the director of prisons for the last year in which it develops that of those committed to the state prison at Charlestown, where the most flagrant offenders are incarcerated, those who came from the convulsa ranks numbered 58, as against 67 from the single ones.

Of the 116 sent to the prison 58 were born in this country and 58 were natives of Italy, Canada, England, Russia and other places, with the Italians predominating, 23 of that race having been placed under confinement. Of the total, 13 could not read or write, one of these being a native of Massachusetts, seven of Italy, two of Russia, and two undetermined.

The crimes for which they were convicted were:

Offenses against the person: Murder, 8; murder in the second degree, 11; assault to commit a felony, 16; robbery, 3; rape, 10; carnal abuse of a child, 7.

Offenses against property: Breaking and entering, 16; breaking and entering and larceny, 5; having in possession burglarious instruments, 2; larceny, 8; receiving stolen goods, 4; common and notorious thief, 1; arson, 1.

Offenses against public order, etc.: Forfeiting and uttering, 3; escape, and attempt, 3; incest, 3; sodomy, 2; abortion, 1.

The nativity of the 116 persons committed is as follows: Persons born in the United States, 58; Italy, 23; Russia, 8; Canada, 7; England, 6; all other countries, 15.

LOCAL LIQUOR MEN IN QUANDARY

No 2.75 per cent beer will be sold in Lowell this week, or for many weeks to come, so several local dealers stated today. The liquor men believe that congress will soon pass the prohibition enforcement bill making it illegal to sell any beverages containing more than half of one per cent alcohol, and therefore they would be taking the longest kind of a chance to ante up $1000 for a first class liquor license, only to be forced to close their doors again in a short time.

Over three-fourths of the liquor dealers have applied at the license commission for first, second or fourth class liquor licenses, which they were assured the commission would grant, subject to federal regulations which allowed the licensee no immunity from any action the federal authorities might take—as soon as the necessary 10-days advertising had been done, and the fees paid.

Several of these licenses, having now been sufficiently advertised could be granted tomorrow subject to the

aforsaid federal regulations; but it is mighty doubtful if any of the local dealers will take advantage of this and open their doors once more.

EARLY MORNING FIRE IN FLETCHER STREET

Spontaneous combustion in a pile of kindling wood, so Chief Saunders believes, was responsible for a lively blaze in the basement of the A. L. Brooks Co. in Fletcher street early this morning. When the fire was discovered at 1.13 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 15 and when the firemen arrived on the premises they found a lively blaze in back of the boilers in the basement of the building, but the smoke was so dense that it was impossible for anyone to enter the basement to fight the fire.

Several lines of hose were laid and the men fought the flames from the second story, where the fire had worked its way through the partitions. A large portion of the heavy flooring was torn up and streams of water were poured on the blaze below. The firemen were kept on the job over two hours, but they succeeded in extinguishing the flames before great damage had been caused. The all-out signal was sounded at 2.45 o'clock.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Elizabeth Scanlon of 318 Cross st. is at the Lowell Corporation hospital suffering from injuries to the back and lacerations on the body as a result of being struck and run over by an automobile at the corner of Suffolk street and Adams street yesterday morning. The automobile was being driven by Peter Veres, who claims the accident was unavoidable. It was learned at the hospital this morning that the woman was resting comfortably.

HO FOR THE BEACH!

The members of Betsy Ross Sisterhood, Daniel of Nalla, will go to Salisbury beach by auto truck Thursday and not Wednesday, as it has been reported. All those going will please make it known to the committee at the lodge Wednesday evening.

SELLING USED FLIVVERS

If any man or woman in Lowell has a flivver or any other type of used car for sale, the present is a good time to dispose of it.

The $300, $400 or $500 used car isn't to be regarded as a luxury any more. With flivver tires selling at about $16 and the average flivver making 21 miles per hour on a gallon of gasoline, this type of car has taken itself out of the luxury class and entered the list of necessary comforts.

The dime fare has made extensive car riding prohibitive. There are hundreds of people in Lowell of moderate means who could easily be persuaded to buy a moderate priced used car. There is just one effective way to reach them. The homes of all these people are entered by The Sun. Advertise your used car in the classified department or by more extensive space. The more space you use, the more chance you get to make the sale promptly. Among its readers there are hundreds of families who might buy a used car if you advertise it in

BOSTON CAR STRIKE

The people of Boston and vicinity, during the strike on the Elevated railway, have had an object lesson on the necessity of proper legal machinery to govern such demands as have been made by the employees.

The strike was settled yesterday and it is estimated that the company lost $200,000 and the men nearly an equal amount in wages during the three days of its existence; but the loss and injury to the public, the merchants, the shoppers and the people who had to walk or pay jitneys to take them to and from work cannot be estimated.

That the strike did not last longer perhaps offers cause for congratulation, but were things as they should be, the strike would never have occurred.

The strikers did not get all they asked but they have won a signal victory and now the company asks how, where or by what means it can raise the amount of the increase.

The day is gone by when such companies can operate under old conditions and the chief reason is that the increase in the cost of labor and material has not been met by a corresponding increase in the revenues.

One of the most serious aspects of the case is, that in the failure of the electric railway systems to make both ends meet, the credit of savings banks, insurance companies and investment institutions is affected in a way that may recoil upon the people who least expect it.

Had the legislature established courts or boards for the arbitration of such questions, this strike and others of a similar kind would not have occurred.

The public that has to put up with these hardships very naturally asks where is it all going to end?

Only a prophet can tell at the present time; but any sensible man can see that the end will be serious unless congress and the state legislatures grapple with these questions and provide an equitable means of settling such troubles.

"To all intents and purposes there will be no air service of the United States after September 1, 1919. On that date only 232 officers of the air service will remain in the service and most of these must be assigned to administrative duties. All the emergency officers who can fly will have gone and the air service will be practically wiped out."

This astounding statement was made on the floor of the senate Friday, by Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the committee on military affairs, who stated that congress had cut the army bill so sharply that this service must be virtually wiped out.

Such a reduction of the army program is indeed hard to imagine. If the air force is cut to the lowest minimum, all emergency fliers discharged and the few remaining officers placed on desk jobs, then army flying must be a memory. The huge airframes, built at tremendous cost, will go to ruin; the canvas on thousands of planes will rot and the 10,000 or more commissioned flying pilots will slip back into civil life. Of course, a good many already have been discharged, but there are hundreds still in active service.

The air service is the army's youngest child, quickly grown to manhood, and it is to be cut down and thrown away, just as it squares away for a life of tremendous industry and activity. Commercial aviation will not be affected by any abandonment caused by the slashings of congress, very true, but the

It has often been estimated that it cost the government $50,000 to train one man to become a full-fledged aviator, ready for fighting service. The exigencies of war called for this, of course, but far better might the country cut its infantry and artillery to a mere shadow of its former might, than to wipe out its air service. No military or naval branch ever made quicker or longer strides forward than did the army air service during the period of war. Beginning with nothing, it grew to a huge plant, capable of turning out expert fliers by the hundred weekly, showing an aptitude on the part of the country's youth never before equalled. And according to Senator Wadsworth's admission, all this will be lost if the work is to be abandoned for lack of funds.

A WISE VETO

Gov. Coolidge has very wisely vetoed a measure sent to him for approval which provides that a lawyer who is a member of the general court shall not be required to proceed with cases in which he may be counsel while the legislature is in session.

Of all the unfair and foolish propositions that ever came before the legislature, this is one of the worst. It would hold up legal cases and be instrumental in having them continued from one court session to another and thus, in many instances, allow the witnesses to die or move away before the case could be heard. Moreover, a person who wished to stave off the trial could do so indefinitely by hiring a lawyer who is a member of the legislature. The courts seldom sit during the very hot season in summer, and as the legislature is in session all the rest of the time, it appears that if this bill became law, a case might be held up for a number of years, awaiting the day when the counsel in the case had completed his legislative duties.

In another light, it may be regarded as an attempt to enable a lawyer who is a member of the legislature to straddle two jobs. There are a great many members of the general court who belong to the legal profession and to grant them the privilege sought in this bill would be a serious interference with the work of the courts. It is only a short time ago since court dockets were so crowded that extraordinary sessions had to be held in order to have the cases cleared up. Had this bill become law, the dockets would soon again be crowded and members of the general court might be paid for holding up cases that, according to all the rules of legal procedure, should be promptly tried. Furthermore, it is a rule of the courts that no case shall be continued except by an order from the court.

It is well to allow that practice to stand. Gov. Coolidge performed a simple duty in vetoing this bill. Had he done otherwise, he would have been untrue to the state and would have placed an obstacle to the administration of justice as now carried out in this commonwealth.

BRIGHTEN THE HOME

Having in mind that the anti-prohibitionists have heretofore claimed, among other things, that one reason why the saloon should not be legislated out of existence was because it constituted a social centre for the workingman, we have had our thoughts diverted to the fact that with this "social centre" removed, either permanently or temporarily, as time will show, the workingman perforce is again thrown back on such entertainment and social atmosphere as his home can furnish.

Granted that this be true, we know that a new or at least renewed responsibility comes to the woman of the house. The saloon was supposed to be a place where good fellowship and amiability were in the air. One had a seat at a table and, for 75 cents or a dollar, he could keep the white aproned chap going and coming with the amber colored fluid for some time and besides drinking beer he could, if he wished, drink in a vast assortment of gossip, news, knowledge, politics and sport topics.

For one thing we may conceive that perhaps having access to the money her partner used to leave at the saloon, the housewife can use it to brighten up the home with new furnishings and comforts. Why not, for instance, use money formerly spent for liquor to buy a piano or a talking machine on instalments? Or why not use this money to start building a porch which might in time be a place where a Gloucester hammock could be installed?

Men of similar tastes—in beer and intellectuality, we mean—need not be deprived of each other's society just because the saloon has been banned. It is just a question of making the home seem as pleasant to the head of the house as the saloon used to be.

BUILDING PROBLEMS

The building season is now at its height, although there is much yet to be done in the line of repairs and new buildings not yet started.

We have already spoken of many old buildings that might be repaired so as to be suitable for occupancy in the fall. But if anything in this line is to be done, it must be done quickly. Many of those who have been thinking of building new dwellings might fare better if they purchased old buildings and remodelled them. In doing that, they would be adding to the taxable property of the city by making needed improvements.

Nobody need expect any reduction in prices either of labor or material. Up to the first of the year, according to government statistics, the prices of farm produce had advanced 116 per cent over pre-war prices. The corresponding figure for lumber was 73 per cent, while building materials in general advanced 84 per cent. During the same period, the prices of general commodities advanced 113 per cent. There is no ground on which to assume that there will be an early reduction in cost either of building material or of general commodities. The prices have advanced as a result of the inflation of the currency due to the war and the war loans, and it may be many years before a lower level of prices shall have been reached.

Be not afraid or timorous because the English pound note, normally worth $4.86, can now be bought in New York for $4.26. Instead, figure this out. How much would you be gaining if you should buy a pound note at a reduction of 60 cents and should go to England where you could spend it and get the equivalent of $4.86 and buy your living one-third cheaper than you can in America?

The Boston Globe occasionally gets as bloodthirsty as a pirate. Last week, Ed Pointer said he thought it might be a good plan if it could be arranged so that the 3600 undesirable aliens now awaiting deportation, could be shipped on one boat and the officers and crew saved after the boat had been wrecked.

Do you suppose the presence of the following at a Baltimore hotel, one day last week, could help to solve the high cost of feeding its guests, W. J. Pepper, New York; L. A. Egg, Syracuse; W. A. Starch, New York; J. A. Sugar, Chicago, and W. Salt, a New Jersey man?

There is the most urgent need of filling holes along many of our principal streets. Neglect on this point will call for a heavy outlay later. It is almost enough to wreck an automobile to drive it over some of the streets.

Apparently we are to have the highest tax rate in the city's history this year. That may be unavoidable; but in the face of such a contingency, there must be no extravagance in any department.

The ten cent fare is said to have had much to do with the death of professional baseball in Lowell. It is liable to kill other things if it continues much longer.

Have you wondered when Dore Boston would ask Hickson to see what he could do with the I. strike problem by laying on of hands?

Did you say "Sky Pilot"? The first sermon from the air will be the head liner at the Methodist church centenary exposition to be held at Columbus, O. The aerial sermon will be preached by a minister who will float above the heads of his congregation at a height of 2000 feet or so. His message will be audible to all by means of a wireless telephone and a megaphone attachment.

Turtle Hunts Popular

"Turtle hunts are the favorite pastime of the folks near Rockdale, Pa." began a returned vacationist who has been seeing America first (also third).

"Last week they unearthed a nest of the largest reptiles ever seen in eastern Pennsylvania."

"James Lamb found a 25-pound snapper on the railroad tracks skirting the river and soon captured it."

"The next day Robert Frederick saw one fully 10 pounds heavier, but it showed fight and was overpowered only when two other men came to Frederick's assistance."

"And the day after that Henry Mosely ran across one that weighed all of 60 pounds. It, too, gave battle, and 18 shots were fired into it before it turned up its toes."

"But the biggest of all found so far was met on the road along the Lehigh Valley. Andrew Squires came upon it and tied a log chain around the turtle and hitched it to the rear of his automobile, intending to drag the snapper into Rockdale, but the turtle's horse power was greater than Mr. Squires' auto, and next morning the auto was six miles farther from Rockdale than it had been when it met the turtle."

Dear Sir: Your monthly invoice tendered is joyfully received for rendered. I take this kindly monthly reminder as earnest of your marked attention. My eyes are quite sufficed at sighting your "Pleasant remit" in your own writing!

Yet, after cursory inspection, I find your invoice for correction. My warm, yes, my sincere advice is that you revise your current prices.

If you'll forgive the obvious jest, I'll also add, revise the rest. Since "current price" is but one item, revise them all, an infinitum. Current exchange, chalk to cheese, butter to bread and pines to peas.

I trust, sir, that you apprehend me and I shall be afforded deeply. If your bill lets me off so cheaply.

Do you not comprehend, I wonder. The "overhead" you labor under? And are you slow in realizing? Your market-price is daily raising? Therefore, as heretofore contended, Your prices are anticipated.

Yet, why submit you to such trouble? I send here in check for double. Hoping I've thus approximated. Your prices are anticipated.

This settlement, dear sir, I trust is not hostile to your rules of justice.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is interesting to listen to some of the western men in uniform who have been stationed at Camp Devens or who have been overseas and assigned to the Ayer cantonment for discharge talking at the local F.M.C.A. After they have come out of the swimming pool, it has been many a month since a lot of them have had a real swim and Saturday afternoon two doughboys with betraying western twist to their speech announced enthusiastically stastically after having a good ducking in the big pool that it "sure felt fine." One of them said that it was a year and a half ago that he had had his last swim down in Atlanta while his pal remarked that it was well over two years since he had been swimming. They were overseas men and evidently had little opportunity to enjoy the beauties of the "ole swimming hole" while in Europe. "When I got home I'll just naturally live in the water as long as I haven't forgotten how to swim," said one of them jubilantly.

You're not going to hear about many crowds of happy picnickers leaving Merrimack square "on a special car" this summer, from present indications. In former seasons hardly a day would pass during July or August but what would have its quota of special car devotees, but this year conditions seem just the reverse. The high cost of car-riding, of course, is the big reason for the change. Instead of crowding into an electric, outing parties now collect a corps of automobiles and whiz away with much more speed than the comparatively plodding electric was ever able to attain. Then, too, one isn't held up at turn-outs or by vehicles that happen to be stretched across the tracks. On the other hand, the possibilities of puncture trouble, blowouts, engine trouble, etc., has to be taken into consideration, but any outing motorists that I have talked with seem inclined to favor the machine to the trolley.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass. Dear Sir: On the occasion of the discussion at Paris on the Province of Northern Epirus, may we state the case in brief for the benefit of those who desire to know the facts about it?

Northern Epirus has a population of 200,000 inhabitants, of whom 120,000 are Christians and 80,000 Moslems. The Christians, with a very negligible number among them, demand union with Greece. The Moslems prefer a Moslem Albanian state.

The culture of the Province is Greek. There are in all in Epirus, 380 Greek schools and only one Albanian school with an attendance of 22,595 for the Greek schools, and only 200 for the Albanian school.

This Albanian school is in the city of Korytza. For this reason, the Albanians claim that Korytza is the centre of Albanian culture. The city of Korytza maintains one Greek college for boys, with 100 students; one Greek girls' high school, with 150 girls; two kindergartens, with an attendance of 100 children of both sexes. In all the Greek schools of Korytza give instruction to 2200 boys and girls. The teaching force consists of 10 professors, 14 male teachers, 14 female teachers, and five kindergarten instructors, or 44 in all. The Greek schools for the district of Korytza are 120, with 150 teachers, and 10,000 pupils. For the same district the Albanians have one school with 200 pupils.

The fact that the boys and girls are sent by their parents to learn Greek rather than Albanian, and to study Greek history, calls for the study of an irrefutable proof of the will of the Christian Epirotes to be Greeks, and to be united with Greece. Respectfully,

CHRISTOS ZIOGKOS.

TEN GENERALS RETURN

Aquitania Docks With Commanders Who Distinguished Themselves Over There

NEW YORK, July 21.—Ten commanders who distinguished themselves with the American Expeditionary Force returned to the United States when the Cunard line steamship Aquitania docked here yesterday.

The party was headed by Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett, commander of the 1st Army Corps, and Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, who commanded the American Army of Occupation. With them were Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war, who has been in Europe on an aviation mission.

The others in the contingent of military leaders, the largest which has returned upon a single ship were Maj. Gens. George C. Squire, chief of the Signal Corps, and Mason M. Patrick and Brig. Gens. Harold B. Fiske, Harry A. Smith, Wilson D. Hurr, Stuart Heinzelman, Dennis E. Nolan and Joseph C. Casler.

Gen. Liggett and his companions were met at the pier by Maj. Gen. David C. Shanks, commander of the port of embarkation, who handed them orders from the war department. Gen. Liggett has been assigned to command the department of the west, with headquarters at San Francisco, and Gen. Dickman to the command of the department of the south with headquarters at San Antonio. Gen. Squire was detailed to air service in Washington; Gen. Fiske to the command of an infantry regiment; Gen. Casler, to Fort Leavenworth, and the others to duty at the war college in Washington.

Assistant Secretary Crowell, who has attended several conferences at which the future of aviation was discussed, declined to talk on his mission until he has reported to Washington.

It was learned, however, that sweeping changes will be advocated in the aviation plans of the United States.

The chief object, according to the reports, is to divorce aviation from both the war and navy departments and to establish government control of commercial as well as military aerial affairs. In this connection a new cabinet portfolio was mentioned. Mr. Crowell refused to sponsor any of these reports, neither denying nor confirming them.

MRS. WILSON CHECKED BRUTAL TREATMENT

NEW YORK, July 21.—Brutal treatment of American military prisoners in Paris was brought to a sudden check when Mrs. Woodrow Wilson first heard of it, according to John W. Kehoe, a hospital superintendent of the Knights of Columbus, who has just returned from France.

"When Mrs. Wilson first went to Paris she was visiting base hospital 57," said Mr. Kehoe in a report yesterday to William P. Larkin, director of Knights of Columbus overseas activities. "She was called to the cot of a doughboy who displayed numerous welts on his arms and back, saying they were received in a prison camp. Mrs. Wilson told the president and immediately the entire guard staff were brought up on charges and removed. Prisoners are said to have received the best of treatment since that time."

The melon aphid has been found in several localities this summer. It is a very dark green louse that attacks in great numbers melon and cucumber vines. Use nicotine sulphate spray to control it.

It is a good plan to go over your squash vines every once in a while and tear out the clusters of squash bug eggs that are to be found on the underside of the leaves. This will save you a lot of work later on. The writer has practiced this method of control and finds it to be a most successful one in controlling these insects.

ANOTHER INJURIOUS GARDEN PEST

During the past week another injurious garden pest has begun its depredations. It is the squash vine borer, a small white worm with a black head.

The writer has observed them in several sections of the county already. When you see a squash vine that has wilted, inspect the stem near the ground and you will notice a large hole eaten into it. If the worm has been at work long enough, the stem of the vine will be decayed. With the blade of a knife slit the stem. You will notice the inside of it eaten away. The borer can be removed and destroyed and then fresh damp earth should be drawn in around the stem of the plant to cover the wound. As was suggested in last week's article, another way to offset this pest is to cover two or more joints on the main stem with earth so a secondary root system will develop. Then if the borer should infest the plant, it has but a slight chance to destroy it.

It is an old-fashioned and erroneous idea that potatoes should not be cultivated when they are in blossom. Disturbing the blossoms does not affect in any way, the formation of the tubers. Keeping the vines in good healthy, growing condition is the surest way to insure a good crop. Spraying every two weeks with Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead is quite essential.

Try picking your vegetables in the morning when they are fresh from the dew rather than later in the day when the hot sun has wilted them to quite an extent. It makes a lot of difference. Beans, however, are an exception to the rule. Keep away from them when they are wet from rain or dew as you are quite likely to spread the rust spores from one plant to another.

EVERY DAY WORK VS. ART

Girls, Don't Waste Time on Artistic Stuff," Says Only U. S. Woman Importer

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—The great mistake of girls who plan to make their own way in the world is going in for fancy callings of an artistic nature. The world is a serious place and needs workaday skill and brains.

Such is the view of Miss Bessie May Abbott, formerly a well known American prima donna, but now head of the only firm of women engaged in importing Oriental goods into the United States.

Miss Abbott, since she left the career of a concert singer to engage in "solid business," has supported her entire family while brother and father were at war; built up a comfortable fortune for herself with excellent prospects for the future, and given thousands of dollars to the Red Cross.

She and her partner, Mrs. Georgia Proctor, take turns in visiting the Orient while the other develops business at home.

"I see now that I should have gone in for business in the first place," she says. "But most girls have a strong artistic spirit, and that leads them to train themselves for useless callings, in which they never really can excel and in which they do the world no good."

"Even after I decided to drop professional singing and to engage in importing Oriental goods, I found that my artistic spirit was trying to betray me," she admits. "I wanted to import Oriental idols, vases of the Ming dynasty, fat-stomached, carved ivory, wretches, incense, nonsense and junk."

"But I was in for business and to give the world things it really could use. So I gave 'objects of art' the go-by, and went up the rivers into interior China to get my hands on stocks of silks, crepe, silk, crepe, walnut butter, crabs and quinine."

"Cocoanut oil is not on the perfume class, but it is good stuff. Canned crab is less attractive in many ways than fresh nuts, but it keeps people alive. I have the knowledge that I am really doing something instead of sticking myself off in a show-case, as most women do even when they make their livings."

"Among other results, the thing pays. My father and brother went to war with the full knowledge that I could take care of the family. I have today a flourishing trade with England, and am shortly to invade the Latin-American field. I am kept busy traveling around from city to city booking orders.

"What's more, I feel like a real citizen of the world. Women must do the grubby, unbecoming, useful tasks before their sex can be on a par with that of men."

"It all began at a dinner in the Orient, where I had gone on a concert tour," she added. "It was a patriotic affair, and I made a rash vow that I would give to the American Red Cross every cent of money that I earned from my singing. That simply compelled me to earn money in some other way."

"I looked over the field, and decided to buy Oriental goods for shipment to the United States. For a while I hung around Hong Kong and wasted my time over 'objects of art.'

WEAR PANTS, GIRLS! THEN YOU'RE A FAKE ATHLETE, SAYS CHAMPION HIKERESS

Here are Miss Mehl's rules followed in training for her recent gruelling contest of endurance—the Dipsea race over 1 1/2 miles of mountain trails. She won, she says, because she trained for it.

Regular hours with plenty of sleep. Eat good food, such as milk, eggs, etc. No pastries or candy during training.

Regulate your pace. Slowly at first, a slow running pace. Run on the balls of your feet: It saves the jar to the body that causes those terrible side pains that make most girls quit.

Rub the muscles of the legs with oil or alcohol. It makes them soft and pliable and they do not tire so easily.

Keep at it. The "fake bathing girl"—she who shrouds her lissome limbs in fancy togs and never tried to swim—is a phenomenon known in other fields of sport, according to Marion Mehl.

was the simplest of all—middy, bloomers, short socks and tennis shoes. "They are fake athletes, these girls who dress for show," says she. "They come as far from getting the real benefits of athletics as the flashy nippers who toll on the beach."

"Many a girl dolls up in the latest hiking togs and goes for a walk over the hills with three men for the sake of wearing pants. That is the peach-girl school of athletics."

"Of course all girls like to look stylish—I do myself. But I will not sacrifice the good to be derived from healthy sport, for the looks or show."

"One should wear loose clothing, so that the muscles may have free play. Muscles bound and fettered cannot develop. I wear loose bloomers or a short skirt, men's half socks, and tennis shoes. Even in mountain hiking, unless it is terribly rough, I wear tennis shoes, not hiking shoes. Light footwear makes for agility."

"Hot, heavy trousers and stiff leggings, are in the same class as the hobble skirts."

Miss Mehl was an invalid until she was 17. After seven months in a hospital she determined to build a strong body by athletics. She sold all her dresses, bought bloomers and took to the open. For three years she romped and played with boys in the parks of Portland, Ore. She became the "tomboy" of the community. With her romping in the fresh air, came health's ruddy glow. Came also the love of all athletic sports.

"Today she is at home in the swimming tank, tennis court, golf links or over the hiking trail. For three years she played baseball on a "bloomer team."

FR. DEVLIN NEW HEAD OF BOSTON COLLEGE

BOSTON, July 21.—Rev. Fr. William Devlin, S. J., was yesterday appointed president of Boston college, Chestnut Hill, to succeed Rev. Chas. W. Lyons, S. J.

Rev. Fr. Devlin is a native of New York city, where he was born December 15, 1873. His early studies were at the Jesuit college, Stonyhurst, Eng. He entered the Jesuit order Sept. 24, 1893, and continued his studies at Frederick, Md., and at Woodstock, Md. He was ordained to the priesthood in July, 1905.

DON'T SELL YOUR BONUS APPLICATION BLANK

Lowell's returned service men are warned to be on the lookout for "sharks" operating in Massachusetts cities much after the fashion of the so called Liberty bond "sharks."

Welfare workers today here said that in a number of places these unscrupulous men and in some cases women, were showing up in a town or city and after obtaining the addresses of service men would visit them and offered cash in hand for the filled out war bonus application blank. The usual price in other places where the evil has come to light, has been $55 or less for this document which calls for payment of $100 to the service man from the state.

State officials have announced that at present there is no existing law which prevents a service man from selling his application and after he has sold it and given a paper showing he has sold it, the person who bought it can show up at the state treasurer's office and procure the $100 called for.

Frank H. Pope, supervisor of loan agencies says that even in the loan being made on these application blanks, he has no jurisdiction except that should evidence come to him that the rate of interest was usurious, he could immediately prosecute as is done in every other similar instance.

As near as The Sun can at this time learn, Lowell service men should begin to receive their $100 war bonus checks from the state treasurer's office commencing the first week in August. Service men should certainly not do business with people trying to buy their applications at a bargain price and a discount amounting to as much as $10 or $25. There is no doubt but that in cases of extreme necessity for a service man or his family some of the Lowell welfare and war work organizations, notably the Red Cross after care department or the War Camp Community service headquarters, should be appealed to and, having met every other contingency of a similar nature, can probably help the service man secure a temporary loan. What holds true for the men of course holds true for women who served in the war.

TEXAS APPEALS FOR PROTECTION

Calls Attention of Washington

AUSTIN, Tex., July 21.—Without debate, the Texas senate today adopted a concurrent resolution calling the attention of the president and congress to the "guerilla warfare that has prevailed along the Texas-Mexican border since 1875," and asking the federal government if it cannot protect the border to "accord to Texas that liberty of action" in protecting its citizens that the republic of Texas enjoyed prior to the time that it, "in good faith, became a state of the union."

200,000 MINERS STRIKE

More Quit Work in Nottinghamshire—Sheffield Industries Hit Hard

LONDON, July 21.—As a protest against the increase of six shillings in the price of coal, which came into effect today following the refusal of the men to accept a compromise on wage and other questions thousands of miners in the main field district of Nottinghamshire refused to go down in the pits. Men in other districts were expected to do likewise, despite the recommendation by the federation of all districts that work be continued until the government settled the question of price rates growing out of the increase in price. Some 200,000 miners are out in Yorkshire.

Sir Eric Geddes, minister without portfolio, was appointed commissioner to attempt to settle the strike.

Sheffield Industries Hit Hard
LONDON, July 21.—A staggering blow has been struck the Sheffield industrial by the strike in the Yorkshire coal fields, says a despatch to the Evening Times. Thousands of hands were thrown out of work today by the stoppage of the engineering works in Sheffield, which announced that because of the shortage of coal they could remain closed until the end of the week. Before the end of the week, it is feared that all the large works will be shut down.

Many surface workers at the mines in South Wales are on strike for the same shorter hours as those granted the miners, and for extra pay for weekends. A number of other strikes in various parts of the coal fields are reported. One colliery in South Wales has been closed because of alleged harsh treatment of the men, while at another the men are striking for the maintenance of the custom by which they were supplied with coal at nominal prices for their homes. A general strike is threatened on this question.

The proposed increase of six shillings per ton for coal, announced by the government, will make the best quality cost 52 shillings 6 pence in London, with a bottom price of 48 shillings 6 pence.

Mines Flooded
LONDON, July 21.—Three mines in the Yorkshire district are flooded and 2 others are likely to be filled with water in a day or two, Premier Lloyd George announced today in the house of commons, as a result of the pumpmen's strike. Some of the mines, he said, would be ruined.

The government is sending men from the fleet to aid in pumping out the mines.

PRES. WILSON
ORDERED TO BED

Returned to Washington Today From Week End
Cruise to Hampton Roads

Condition Not Serious, But Will Be Unable To Receive Callers For Few Days

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President
Wilson returned to Washington today from a weekend cruise to Hampton Roads and was immediately ordered to bed by Rear Admiral Grayson, who announced that he was suffering with dysentery.

Admiral Grayson said the president's condition was not serious but that he probably would be unable to receive callers before the end of the week.
Engagements which he had with a number of republican senators to discuss the peace treaty and the League of Nations were cancelled.

The president had been complaining of feeling badly for several days and when he started down the Potomac Saturday night on the Mayflower, it was supposed that he was suffering with a slight attack of indigestion.
Senators who were to have called at the White House today were Edge of New Jersey, Norris of Nebraska, Cummings of Iowa and Calder of New York.

While Senator Norris' name was on the list of engagements for today, there were published reports that he had declined the president's invitation. The senator, however, refused to discuss these reports further than to say that any publication on the subject was unauthorized by him.

Senator Norris did not visit the White House at 11 a. m., the hour at which he had been asked to call, and White House attaches who communicated with his office to announce that the president had been forced to cancel his appointments for the day were told that the senator had written a note to the president. It was said at the White House that the note had not been received there at that time.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota, had been invited to the White House tomorrow and Senators Page of Vermont, and McLean, of Connecticut, on Wednesday. These engagements were postponed to see the president's intention to see the senators in the order in which they were invited.

BITTER ATTACK ON REPUBLICANS

Opposition to Treaty "Worse Than Bolshevism Gone Wild," Says Harrison

Action Founded on Rank Par-tisanism and Personal Dislike of Pres. Wilson

Declares League Would Not Prevent U. S. Siding With Ireland in War

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Partisanship in opposition to the League of Nations and the peace treaty, was imputed to republican leaders today by Senator Harrison, democrat, of Mississippi.

"Never before in the discussion of a great national question," he said, "has deception been so lavishly practiced and misrepresentation so generously employed. Just criticism is always acceptable. But when opposition to international policies such as are contained in this treaty is founded on rank par-tisanism and personal dislike of a particular individual, it is worse than Bolshevism gone wild."

Seek to Strangle Treaty

Naming Senator Lodge, Chairman
Hays of the republican national committee, Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, and others, Senator Harrison asserted that the republican leaders had sought to im-barrass President Wilson at Versailles and now were seeking to strangle the treaty for partisan purposes.

"I appeal to you," he said, "to come out from that spell of partisanship.
Help us ratify this treaty. Give to the people the peace they desire."

"Do not think yourselves wiser than your masters; do not think that the wisdom of the republican party is lodged in your membership. The thousands of men and women throughout the country who have never voted anything but the republican ticket believe that this treaty should be ratified."

"Sir, if you are to defeat it, let me appeal to you to meet the issue in the open. Do not put yourselves in the attitude of voting reservations that are meaningless or ratify it with a string-tie to it, such a string that will strangle it."

Reservations urged by Chairman
Hays and other republican leaders, Senator Harrison said, were unnecessary and would require reconsideration of the treaty by all the signa-

Negroes and White in Bitter Clashes—Many Injured
Now in Hospitals

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The federal government intervened today to prevent a recurrence of the attacks made Saturday and Sunday nights by soldiers, sailors and marines against negroes in retaliation for assaults by negroes on white women in this city.
After a conference between Secretary Baker and the local governing authorities, the army provost guard was restored to duty.

Two hundred and fifty soldiers and marines will aid the police in patrolling the streets tonight. One hundred soldiers trained in police duty who were recently relieved from the provost guard have been recalled.
Streets which were the scene of rioting in which scores of negroes were beaten will be kept clear of small gatherings.

No action curtailing the issuance of passes or the granting of furloughs for soldiers and marines stationed in and near Washington, is contemplated.

The attacks by the service men on negroes were so general that uniformed negro policemen were detached from duty and sent home by the authorities.

Negroes Open Fire

About noon today four negroes in an automobile drove up to the naval hospital in Potomac park, not far from the White House, and fired four shots at the entry. Then they whisked their machine around the street corner and fired four more shots at inmates on the hospital grounds, all of them sick or wounded sailors and marines.
The machine and its party got away.
The shots all went wild.

Many Injured

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Police and hospital records today showed scores of negroes were injured in the widespread clashes between whites and negroes here last night. More than a dozen negroes, some of them suffering from severe beatings at the hands of mobs, were treated at hospitals and scores were cared for at their homes.
The rioting which began shortly after 10 o'clock, lasted until early this morning and although many arrests were made, so widely scattered were the outbreaks, that the police and a detail of provost guards were unable to cope with the situation. Riot calls came in from several sections in rapid succession, and the entire police reserve was kept on the jump practically all night.

Most of the injured negroes were set upon singly or in pairs but the more serious of the clashes were between mobs and negroes who assembled in crowds at several points. Clubs and stones were used freely, but fists were the principal weapons.

At times the mobs reached the proportion of a thousand and more people and in a number of cases policemen who sought to aid negro victims of the attacks were overwhelmed. In several instances negroes were pulled from street cars along Pennsylvania avenue and beaten into unconsciousness. Soldiers, sailors and marines were said by the police to have been leaders in the disorders.

FIRE IN MATTRESS
Fire of unknown origin destroyed an old mattress lying in the yard in the rear of 21-25 Legrand street sent in from box 15 and a portion of

WILSON REQUEST IS PUT OVER

Asked Senate Approval of Appointment of American on Reparations Committee

Senators Lodge and Knox Oppose Resolution Approving Appointment

WASHINGTON, July 21.—President
Wilson today asked the senate foreign relations committee to approve appointment of an American member of the reparations commission provided for under the peace treaty, to act provisionally pending senate action on the Versailles document. The committee debated the request for more than an hour without acting.

The president wrote that he made the request because he considered it
"of so much importance to the business interests of the country," that the United States be represented on the commission.

Senator Williams, democrat, Mississippi, offered a resolution declaring the committee willing to approve such an appointment, but Chairman Lodge and other republican members opposed it while Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, and Harding, republican, offered substitutes that would declare the committee without authority in the matter. None of the proposals came to a vote.

The president's letter to Chairman Lodge follows:

"My Dear Senator: There are some things in connection with the execution of the treaty of peace which are hardly await the action of the several governments, which must act with regard to the ratification of the treaty.
and the chief of these is the functioning of the reparations commission. It is of such importance to the business interests of the United States as well as to the nations with which we are associated, that the United States should be represented on that commission and represented now while the State of the commission is taking shape, and I am taking the liberty of writing to ask if you will not be kind enough to consult the committee on particular appointment with regard to them that I would very much appreciate their approval of my appointing provisionally a representative of the United States to act upon the reparations commission."

"Very sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

Intends to Name Baruch

It is understood in official circles that President Wilson intends to appoint Bernard M. Baruch of New York during the war he was chairman of the war industries board, and he aided at Paris in working out the reparations and economic clauses of the treaty.

The committee will take up the president's rebuke again tomorrow when Senator Fall, under notice given today, will move that the doors be opened while the subject is under discussion.

The substitute resolution offered by Senator Knox today would declare "that it is the judgment of the committee that until the treaty is ratified no power exists either in the president or in congress to execute any of the provisions proposed in the treaty, either provisionally or otherwise."

Many Lowell Children Take Advantage of Recreational Opportunities

A tour of the various playgrounds being operated in Lowell this summer by the park commission authorities finds everything running in practically perfect order and larger numbers of children taking advantage of the recreational opportunities afforded than in any previous season.

There are three grounds under the supervision of the park commission this year—the North common, South common and Chambers street. The North and South commons are taking care of 500 children each on an average every day, while the Chambers street ground, of smaller dimensions, is providing supervised play for 100 or more youngsters every day.

Projecting itself strongly from the mass of impressions one receives from such a tour is the essential need of shower baths in more of Lowell's schoolhouses, especially those located

Attack on American Sailors by Mexicans Arouses Washington

Daniels Awaits Report—Additional Warships May Be Sent to Tampico

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Urgent representations by the state department as the result of the attack on American sailors in a small boat from the monitor Cheyenne, near Tampico, July 6, were expected by officials here to bring prompt action by the Mexican government.

Meantime further details of the attack were awaited by both the navy and state departments.

No reply had been received early today from the commander of the cruiser Topeka at Tampico, who was instructed Saturday by Secretary Daniels to make a full report. This report was expected to develop the character of the band which held up and robbed the sailors while they were on official duty. First accounts of the incident referred to the assailants as "bandits," but in the light of previous information that government forces had been in complete control of the Tampico district for some time, officials desired further information on this point.

Secretary Daniels said today no part of the Pacific fleet, now en route to the west coast, would be diverted to Mexican waters, adding that if additional forces were needed, they would be drawn from the Atlantic fleet. The cruiser Topeka, the gunboat Castina and the Cheyenne are now on duty at or near Tampico.

A dispatch to the state department today from Tampico said bandits had robbed the Atlantic Refining Co.'s oil loading station at Puerto Lobos, near Tampico, of about $10,000 last Wednesday. The funds were intended for the company's payroll.

A number of senators and representatives called at the state department to discuss the situation with Henry P.
Fletcher, American ambassador to Mexico. A resolution proposing investigation of the situation in Mexico is now pending in the house.

The senate foreign relations committee today unanimously reported a resolution by Senator King, democrat, Utah, asking the state department for full information as to depredations against American merchants in Mexico during recent years.

The resolution would ask the state department for the following information:

What steps or measures are being taken to prosecute claims made by American citizens for damages in Mexico since the retirement of Porfirio Diaz.

The amount of claims filed with the department for damages in Mexico.

Full information as to the confiscation of American property in Mexico.

How many Americans have been compelled to leave Mexico on account of disorder.

The value of American property abandoned in Mexico because of disorder.

The number of American citizens now in Mexico and the amount of their property.

Reiterating that soldiers in the Mexican federal uniform had been killed on both sides of the border by American soldiers sent to repulse raids, Senator Fall, republican, New Mexico, read to the senate today a telegram giving the names of some of the Carranza officers and men who feel before the charges of the Americans. He said he repeated his statement because Brig. General James B. Irwin, commanding the border patrol, had been quoted in an Associated Press despatch from El Paso as saying that no bodies wearing Carranza uniforms had been found.

community and its circulation shows its opinions are supported.

CARSON'S OPPOSITION IS AIDING IRISH CAUSE

BOSTON, July 21.—Thomas H. Mahony, chairman of the organization committee on Irish freedom, told the members of the Bishop Cheever assembly yesterday, at the Columbus club in Dorchester, that the movement for Ireland's freedom was making tremendous progress.

"The most striking proof that the movement is succeeding is Sir Edward Carson's renewed activity against the cause," declared Mr. Mahony.

Resolutions were passed demanding the suppression of an alleged British propaganda in this country and the championing of the Irish cause by the United States. Daniel Foley, of the Trades' Union college also spoke. Thomas O'Dowd of New York and William J. McDewitt, Jr., rendered songs.

"Sir Edward Carson has again donned his armor of alleged love of the empire, and is seen hurling his venomous shafts at everybody and everything that threatens the territorial integrity of his beloved 'mother land,' continued Mr. Mahony.

"Since 1914 when home rule threatened Ireland, and when Carson and his accessories promised to kick the king's crown into the Boyne, if the third home rule bill was to be applied to Ulster, he has not until now curdled the atmosphere with his sour breath of hatred, and falsehood.

"This return to the stump at least shows that Carson fears the actuality

of recognition by England of the Irish republic. While in 1914 his efforts paralyzed the British government, England at that time was not in the position she now occupies toward this country. Carson's attack is now directed against this country. The more he rants, the more adherents Ireland's cause secures, and the more quickly England will be forced to take drastic and already too long delayed action against the petulant stubbornness of northeast Ulster.

"Carson says for this country to mind its own business. Carson was a member of Lloyd George's cabinet in 1917 and 1918 when England, through Mr. Northcliffe, Smith and Reading, came begging for help. When Lloyd George said that the outcome of the war depended upon a race between time and America; when Marshal Haig pleaded with his troops to hold, with their backs to the wall, hoping and praying for America to come.

"Would to God that Carson had then said for America to mind her own business. But no, England's safety, Carson's hide, democracy and civilization, the rights of small nations were loudly proclaimed as America's business. America was prayed to, beseeched, berated; every method used to convince her that it was her solemn duty to enter the war for 'small nations.' If Carson ever attempted such a remark in 1917 or 1918 I doubt that he would have lived to repeat it in 1919.

VICTORY FETE ON THE OLD HINDENBURG LINE

PARIS, Sunday, July 20.—A victory fete was given today at Coney in Chateau, on the old Hindenburg line, for thousands of returned refugees who were unable to participate in the celebration in Paris. The celebration was arranged by the American committee for devastated France under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Dike and Miss Anne Morgan, assisted by the Knights of Columbus.

General Pershing sent an American band and Marshal Petain a French to assist in the celebration. After a parade games and dancing were provided for the refugees who had been transported from a wide area by special trains and motor trucks.

Endicott, former chairman of the state public safety committee; James H. Vahey, counsel for the carmen's union, and H. Ware Barnum, counsel for the public trustees of the railway company. Union officials said the award embodies the best conditions ever given carmen in the United States.

Normal business and traffic conditions returned with the resumption of service. Extra service on the steam railroads was continued today, however.

7000 Share in Increase

The wage increases granted in the award will affect nearly 7000 motormen, conductors, guards and brakemen, while the shortened hours of labor will benefit the company's entire working force of 7800. Samuel L. Powers, a member of the board of public trustees, estimated the wage increases would add about $2,500,000 to the expense of the system. He said that if the people would ride as freely under the 10-cent fare, which was adopted on July 10, as they did under the eight-cent fare, the company could pay the new scale.

Seenes at Mass Meeting

At a mass meeting of the 7000 or more employees of the Boston Elevated at the Parkman bandstand on the common yesterday afternoon the strike on the road was declared "off."

It was an extraordinary scene when the vote was taken at 6.20 p. m. after the terms on which the arbitration board had agreed had been read by Henry R. Endicott and explained by James H. Vahey and H. Ware Barnum—the other members of the board.

The vote was unanimous, for, as James H. Vahey said: "By the terms of the agreement the conditions of work, the wages and the hours are the best of any street railway system in the world."

Order Work Resumed

After the vote had been taken Pres. Higgins of the Carmen's union asked that all who could conveniently report for duty last evening should report so as to have the road in readiness for work at as early an hour as possible and that in any event work should be resumed at 4 o'clock this morning by those who were accustomed to report for duty at that hour and all others at the hours they had been accustomed to report.

Then came a wild scene for a few moments when Pres. Higgins declared the meeting adjourned. There were

To Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"I advise every suffering woman to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it has done me so much good. I had female weakness, inflammation, pains in my sides and painful periods. I suffered for six years and tried many remedies without benefit. The doctor said I must have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and since taking it I am cured and have a nice baby four months old. I feel like a new woman, and have recommended your medicine to my friends. I would be glad to have everybody know what your medicine did for me, and if any write to me I will answer all letters."—Mrs. MARY CALIGURE, 817 South Main St., Herkimer, N.Y.

Every woman at some period or other in her life may suffer from just such disturbances as Mrs. Caligure, and if there is no interested friend to advise, let this be a reminder that this famous root and herb remedy has been overcoming these ailments of women for more than 40 years. If any complications exist, write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

Cheers and cheers and the band played "Rally Round the Flag." Then the officers of the union and the members of the arbitration board walked down the steps of the bandstand and the moment Mr. Endicott reached the last step he was lifted on the shoulders of several stalwart motormen and held there where all could see him smiling and holding on for dear life while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." Then Mr. Vahey was accorded the same treatment, as were Pres. Higgins and Mr. Barnum.

That was the end of a rather tense hour, for besides the employees of the road there were present fully 5000 others, who seemed to be just as keenly interested in the proceedings as the employees who had been on strike for four days.

The regular Sunday afternoon band concert on the common had attracted a vast concourse of people for two hours before the carmen's meeting. When that concert was over at 5.10 p. m. a procession of soldiers and sailors, carrying the banner of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees and two American flags, marched on the bandstand and got a great cheer. Then another band appeared and began playing popular airs.

A group from the Medford car barns appeared carrying a banner on which was inscribed: "Medford Car Barns—30 in the Service—Are They Bolshevik or German? Mr. Whiteside?"

That was a signal for a demonstration by the 200 or more soldiers and sailors on and around the bandstand—men of the Boston Elevated who had served in the war.

LOCAL MILK PROBLEM STILL UNSOLVED

The retail milk business in Lowell today is a problem. The dealers are in a quandary as to what to do as far as the price is concerned. Last week they were notified by the producers that, beginning Monday, July 21, the price of milk at wholesale would be increased according to the distance of carting, and the various prices announced by the producers meant an average increase of about seven cents a can.

The dealers protested and informed the producers that they would not pay the prices asked. The producers came back with a threat that unless the prices asked were paid, the milk would be allowed to remain on the farms.

It was learned this morning that although no agreements were signed between the producers and the retailers, the latter were still doing business, but were in a quandary as to the price they are to charge. Most of the dealers informed The Sun, however, that they had not yet increased their prices. One man stated that, beginning tomorrow, he will retail his milk at 18 cents a quart to family trade. Osterman & Gilman, proprietors of the Burbeck milk business, stated that although they were selling at a loss, they would not increase their

Reparation To Be Adjusted to Her Lessened Resources—Army Cut to 80,000

Must Restore Hapsburg's Loot of Centuries and Vessels Sunk

PARIS, July 21.—The full peace conditions of the allied and associated powers are now in the hands of the Austrians.

The first sections of the terms were presented to the Austrian delegates at St. Germain on June 2; the final sections were delivered to them at the same place yesterday without ceremony by M. D'Amato, secretary general of the peace conference.

The terms comprise the whole treaty which Austria is asked to sign, including the reparation, financial, military and certain other minor clauses, which were not ready for presentation when the official ceremony took place.

In an accompanying memorandum the Austrians are granted 15 days in which to make their final observations, although they have already submitted a large number of notes on the terms previously submitted to them.

Must Make Reparation

In addition to the published terms of June 2, the new clauses provide for reparation arrangements very similar to those in the treaty with Germany, including the establishment of an Austrian subsection of the reparations commission, the payment of a reasonable sum in cash, the issuing of bonds and the delivery of livestock and certain historical and art treasures.

The financial terms provide that the Austrian pre-war debt shall be apportioned among the various former parts of Austria, and that the Austrian carriage and war bonds circulating in the separated territory shall be taken up by the new governments and redeemed as they see fit.

Under the military terms the Austrian army is henceforth reduced to 80,000 men on a purely voluntary basis.

Paragraph five, relating to the military, says that the Austrian army shall not exceed 80,000 men, including officers and depot troops. Within three months the Austrian military forces shall be reduced to this number, universal military service abolished and voluntary enlistment substituted, as part of the plan "to render possible

The army shall be used exclusively for the maintenance of internal order and control of frontiers. All officers must be regulars, those of the present army to be retained being under the obligation to serve until 40 years old; those newly appointed agreeing to at least 20 consecutive years of active service. Non-commissioned officers and privates must enlist for not less than 12 consecutive years, including at least six years with the colors.

Within three months the armament of the Austrian army must be reduced according to detailed schedules, and all surplus surrendered. The manufacture of all war material shall be confined to one single factory under the control of the state, and such establishments shall be closed down or converted. Importation and exportation of arms, munitions and war materials of all kinds is forbidden.

The allied and associated governments affirm and Austria accepts the responsibility of Austria and her allies for causing loss and damage to which the allied and associated governments and their nationals have been subjected as a consequence of the war imposed upon them by the aggression of Austria and her allies.

While recognizing that Austria's resources will not be adequate to make complete reparation, the allied and associated governments request, and Austria undertakes, that she will make compensation for damage done to civilians and their property in accordance with categories of damages similar to those provided in the treaty with Germany.

The amount of damage is to be determined by the reparation commission provided for in the treaty with Germany, which is to have a special section to handle the Austrian situation. The commission will notify Austria before May 1, 1921, of the extent of her liabilities and of the schedule of payments for the discharge thereof during a period of 30 years. It will bear in mind the diminutions of Austria's resources and capacity of payment resulting from the treaty.

Method of Reparation

As immediate reparation Austria shall pay during 1919, 1920 and the first four months in 1921 in such manner as provided by the reparation commission, "a reasonable sum which shall be determined by the commission."

Three bond issues shall be made, the first before May 21, 1921, without interest; the second at 2 1/2 per cent interest between 1921 and 1926, and thereafter at 5 per cent, with an additional 1 per cent for amortization, beginning in 1926, and a third at 5 per cent when the commission is satisfied that Austria can meet the interest and sinking fund obligations. The amount shall be divided by the allied and associated governments in proportions determined upon in advance on a basis of general equity.

The Austrian section of the reparation commission shall include representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Greece, Poland, Rumania, the Serbo-Slovene state and Czechoslovakia. The first four shall each appoint a delegate with two votes, and the other five shall choose one delegate each year to represent them all. Withdrawal from the commission is permitted on 12 months' notice. The allied and associated powers require and Austria undertakes that in part reparation she will devote her economic resources to the physical restoration of the invaded areas. Within 60 days of the coming into force of the treaty, the governments concerned shall file with the reparation commission lists of animals, machinery, equipment and the like destroyed by Austria and which the governments desire replaced in kind, and lists of the materials which they desire produced in Austria for the work of construction and which shall be reviewed in the light of Austria's ability to meet them.

To Give Up Many Animals

As an immediate advance as to animals, Austria agrees to deliver within three months after ratifications of the treaty 4000 milch cows to Italy, and 1000 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1000 heifers to Italy, 300 to Serbia and 500 to Rumania; 500 bulls to Italy, and 25 each to Serbia and Rumania; 1000 calves to each of the three nations; 1000 bullocks to Italy, and 500 each to Serbia and Rumania; 2000 sows to Italy, and 1000 draft horses and 1000 sheep to both Serbia and Rumania.

Austria also agrees to give an option for five years as to timber, iron and magnesite in amounts as nearly equal to the pre-war importations as Austria's resources make possible.

She renounces in favor of Italy all claims touching territory assigned to Italy, and in favor of the allied and associated powers the others.

To Restore Historical Records

Austria agrees to restore all records, documents, objects of antiquity and art and all scientific and bibliographical material taken away from the invaded or ceded territories.

She will also hand over without delay all official records of the ceded territories and all records, documents and historical material possessed by public institutions and having a direct bearing on the histories of the ceded territories which have been removed during the past 10 years, except that for Italy the period shall be from 1861.

As to artistic, archaeological, scientific or historic objects formerly belonging to the Austro-Hungarian government or crown, Austria agrees to negotiate with the state concerned for an amicable arrangement for the return to the districts of origin on terms of reciprocity of any object which ought to form part of the intellectual patrimony of the ceded districts, and for 20 years to safeguard all other such objects for the free use of students.

The Loot of Centuries

As for special objects carried off by the house of Hapsburg and other dynasties from Italy, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia, a committee of three jurists, appointed by the reparation commission, is to examine within a year the conditions under which the objects were removed and to order restoration. If the removals were illegal, the list of articles includes, among others:

For Tuscany, the crown jewels and part of the Medici heirlooms; for Modena, a "Virgin" by Andrea del Sarto; and three manuscripts; for Palermo, 12th century objects made for the Norman kings; for Naples 98 manuscripts carried off in 1718; for Belgium, various objects and documents removed in 1794; for Poland, a gold cup of King Ladislaus IV, removed in 1772; and for Czechoslovakia various documents and historical manuscripts removed from the royal chateau of Prague.

Financial Terms

Paragraph Nine—Financial. The first charge upon all the assets and revenues of Austria shall be the costs arising under the present treaty, including, in order of priority, the costs of the armies of occupation, reparations and other charges specifically agreed to, and, with certain exceptions, as granted by the reparation commission for payments for imports: Austria must pay the total cost of the armies of occupation from the armistice of Nov. 3, 1918, so long as maintained; and may export no gold before May 1, 1921, without consent of the reparation commission.

Each of the states to which Austrian territory is transferred and each of the states arising out of the dismemberment of Austria, including the republic of Austria, shall assume part of the Austrian pre-war debt specifically secured on railways, salt mines and other property, the amount to be fixed by the reparation commission on the basis of the value of the property so transferred. Similarly, the unsecured bonded pre-war debt of the former empire shall be distributed by the reparation commission in the proportion that the revenues for the three years before the war of the separated territories

tory bore to those of the empire, excluding Bosnia and Herzegovina.

War Debt Limited to Austria

No territory formerly part of the empire, except the republic of Austria, shall carry with it any obligation in respect of the war debt of the former Austrian government; but neither the government of those governments nor their nationals shall have recourse against any other state, including Austria, in respect of war debt bonds held within their respective territories by themselves or their nationals.

The war debt held outside the former empire should be a charge on the republic of Austria alone. All war securities shall be stamped within two months with the stamp of the state taking them up, replaced by certificates, and settlement to the reparation commission.

The currency notes of the former Austro-Hungarian bank circulating in the separated territory shall be stamped within two months by the new governments of the various territories with their own stamp, replaced within 12 months by a new currency, and turned over within 14 months to the reparation commission. The bank itself shall be liquidated as from the day after the signature by the reparation commission.

States to which American territory was transferred and states arising from the dismemberment of Austria shall acquire all property within their territories of the old or new Austrian governments, including that of the former royal family. The value is to be assessed by the reparation commission and credited to Austria on the reparation account.

Property of predominant historic interest to the former kingdoms of Poland, Bohemia, Croatia, Slavania, Dalmatia, Bosnia, Herzegovina, the republic of Ragusa, the Venetian republic, or the Episcopal principalities of Trent and Bressanone may be transferred without payment.

Austria renounces all rights to all international, financial or commercial organizations in allied countries, Germany, Hungary, Bulgaria, Turkey or the former Russian Empire. She agrees to expropriate on demand of the reparation commission any rights of her nationals in any public utility or concession in these territories, in separated districts and in mandatory territories, to transfer them to the commission within six months and to hold herself responsible for indemnifying her nationals so dispossessed.

Turkish Debt Gold

She also agrees to deliver within one month the gold deposited as security for the Ottoman debt, renounce any benefits accruing from the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk, and transfer to the allied and associated governments all claims against her former allies.

Any financial adjustments, such as those relating to banking and insurance companies, savings banks, postal savings banks, land banks or mortgage companies in the former monarchy necessitated by the dismemberment of the monarchy and the resettlement of public debts and currency shall be regulated by agreement between the various governments, failing which, the reparation commission shall appoint an arbitrator or arbitrators, whose decision shall be final.

Austria shall not be responsible for pensions of nationals of the former empire who have become nationals of other states.

Study Allies' Terms

PARIS, July 21.—Austria's delegates to the peace conference today had in their hands for study the complete peace conditions of the allies. The sections of the treaty which were incomplete when the terms were originally presented on June 2, were handed to the Austrian plenipotentiaries yesterday, without ceremony.

MATHEWS DEFEAT ST. PETER'S A.A.

One of the hardest fought ball games of the present season was played Saturday afternoon on the North common when the Mathews defeated their old rivals, St. Peter's A.A. In nine innings of sensational playing, the score was 7 to 2.

The Mathews forged to the front in the first inning with only one man out and were never headed. In the initial session they scored four runs on an error, a base on balls, a two-bagger and a home run. They scored again in the second, seventh and ninth innings for a total of seven. St. Peter's scored their two runs in the fifth on two hits and two errors. Throughout the rest of the game they were held entirely in check by the pitching of "Duke" Connors. He allowed but three hits in the entire nine stanzas.

Features of the game were the batting of Bradbury and Manning of the Mathews, and the fielding of Patrick.

Ratification Urged

as experience required. Much of the opposition, he asserted, sprang from paranoias.

"Surely," he said, "if the treaty is ratified after the experience through which we have just passed, it will help to keep our former enemies in the straight and narrow path until the present plan can be modified or improved so as to meet the requirement of our future experiences and our mature thoughts."

"I would find serious fault with some of our proposed amendments or reservations if they did not mean delay. Is it not going to be better, therefore, that we surrender some of our own convictions in the interest of immediate peace, rather than to insist upon changes which will require the pending treaty to be sent back to the associated powers."

Can Withdraw in Two Weeks

"During the war many of us voted for measures, not because we would have approved them in time of peace, but because we felt the exigencies of the situation required them. May we not pursue a similar course when it comes to the ratification of the peace treaty?"

"Ought not our aim to be the restoration of peace and the adoption of such measures for its preservation and the protection of the new born nations as shall seem to be sufficient in the present state of the public mind."

"Who does not know that Germany is not looking forward to the moment when she may resume her aggression against her neighbors? Who does not know that the new government of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and other small independent nations have not been able to organize perfect and stabilized government? Why then, the intensity of opposition against section X."

"Under the provisions of the treaty, the United States has the power to withdraw from the league after two years' notice. Are not the political and military conditions in Europe such as to convince any fair-minded man that our obligations as one of the belligerents will require us to be on guard for two years and more?"

Replies to Senator Knox

"Replying to Senator Knox's proposal for a separation of the league from the treaty, Senator Pomerene said the league constituted machinery by which the terms of peace would be carried out. He said he did not understand that Mr. Root had even to this day changed his views as to the necessity for the formation of the League of Nations. The Monroe doc-

To Try To Swim English Channel

PARIS, July 21.—Norman Ross of San Francisco, who yesterday won the swimming match in the Seine across Paris, has informed the Excelsior that he intends to try to swim the English channel.

His victory yesterday was achieved in 1 hour and 30 minutes, for the distance of about 6500 metres, with Baegabupo, the Italian swimmer, only four-fifths of a second behind, and Morris, Australia, a close third.

Ship Owners Frame Compromise

NEW YORK, July 21.—Ship owners today faced the problem of framing a compromise proposal to the demand of striking seamen for recognition of the union. An offer to give preferential employment to union seamen after men of American citizenship were given an opportunity to fill vacancies in crews, union leaders indicated, might be accepted, since all American seamen are union members.

It is estimated that half the shipping under the American flag is tied up in New York and other Atlantic ports. Estimates of the number of ships range from 500 to 800. According to the ship owners, about 250 American vessels are idle in New York harbor alone.

In the final covenant, Mr. Pomerene said, was amply safeguarded to meet Mr. Root's objection. He asked why Mr. Root favored article X in March and raised objections to it in June.

Mr. Pomerene also cited statements to 29 in 1916.

BANKER SAYS BUSINESS SOLID IN POLAND

NEW YORK, July 21.—One of the most stable governments in Europe—under Paderewski—and an army of half a million men, second to none, are the guarantees which Poland is offering to American business. Constantin Radkiewicz, a Warsaw banker, told reporters at the Plaza hotel yesterday that his country was not only ready to stand with her fine army as the European bulwark against Bolshevism but that business was already resuming in Warsaw and throughout the land.

"The sheer love of country which enabled Poland to survive a century of alien domination has set up a government and raised an army constituting a new nation on a firm basis," he said. "Poland is as large as France and as populous. Her resources in agriculture, mines and industry are extensive and varied. Even in the past, American firms who have done business in Poland have done well."

Mr. Radkiewicz for many years represented the New York Life Insurance company in Poland and southern Russia. At present he is interested in many enterprises, chief of which is the water transport on the Vistula river and its tributaries from Danzig to Warsaw and all through Poland. His interests include large sugar beet estates and extend through Russia as far as the Persian border. On an island in the Caspian sea he has a mine of petrified petroleum from which valuable developments are already coming.

Cardinal Toward America

Mr. Radkiewicz testifies to the cordial regard of all Poles for America. This, he says, began when Koeluszko and Pulaski fought in the American Revolution, was built up as the four and a half millions of Polish emigrants in this country wrote home and praised the land of their adoption and culminated with the part America played in the world war, particularly with the aid she has already extended to Poland.

The German invasion of Poland stripped her almost completely of material facilities, cattle and horses. Nevertheless, Mr. Radkiewicz reports, the Polish farmers and their families have already returned to the farms and are working them through the peasant devotion to the soil. There will be something of a harvest this year, and he hopes that next year's crops will make Poland almost self-supporting.

She needs almost everything, however, beginning with fertilizer, farm implements and animals, and running through the whole scale of manufactured products and raw material. The spirit of Bolshevism has never found root in Poland, and the people are already sending their agents through the country, but these agents are handicapped by the hatred of the Polish people and by their inability to promise deliveries.

There is no greater national idol in the world than Paderewski, says Mr. Radkiewicz. He came to Paris and lived there with the premier for several days. In Poland he is looked upon as the national savior. In Paris he is no less popular. Before Paderewski arrived in Poland socialist governments had been set up in some of the liberated provinces.

"Who sells it cheapest?" you ask and this evening's issue of The Sun answers the question because each live merchant advertises in it:

ready at work with what tools they have at hand.

Mr. Radkiewicz made a vigorous denial of the reports that there had been pogroms in Poland.

"No more than there are in this room at the present moment," he replied quickly to a question. He explained that under former regimes the Jews had been crowded into the ghettos of the smaller cities and that naturally they had deteriorated. To some extent these wretched people were used by the Russian and German plotters. Mr. Radkiewicz asserts that the fullest liberties are now granted to the Jews, and that they are rapidly responding and taking an important part in the reconstruction of the country.

The Polish government has already established a credit of $100,000,000 with American bankers, but the proceeds of this loan are to be used largely for military purposes.

"It is essential that Poland have a good army," says Mr. Radkiewicz, "for we stand between the Teuton and the Bolshevik. We must protect our frontiers. And that is the only purpose for which the army will be used. It is false to make charges of aggression against us for we are not a militarist people. Our army is efficient and well disciplined. It is filled with patriotic democrats, thousands of whom got their training in democracy in America."

Further advances will be necessary, Mr. Radkiewicz admits, in order to finance the needed industrial purchases, but, he says, the Polish government stands ready to guarantee all in order that the value of Polish currency and exchange may be kept somewhere near normal until she is ready in two or three years to begin exporting on a scale that will maintain the standard without artificial aid.

Quick Action Necessary

Quick action, he says, is necessary that Poland may not be compelled to turn to the nearby German markets. She has no desire to do so, as evidenced by her efforts to buy in America. Nor, says Mr. Radkiewicz, should the Polish market be considered as limited to Poland itself. The tributaries of the Vistula extend across the Russian border into Lithuania and the Ukraine and the rail systems will do the same. Many Polish business men already have extensive interests in those lands. Not only is Poland the bulwark against Bolshevism but the key to the Russian market when Bolshevism has once been eliminated. The Germans, he says, realize this and are already sending their agents through the country, but these agents are handicapped by the hatred of the Polish people and by their inability to promise deliveries.

There is no greater national idol in the world than Paderewski, says Mr. Radkiewicz. He came to Paris and lived there with the premier for several days. In Poland he is looked upon as the national savior. In Paris he is no less popular. Before Paderewski arrived in Poland socialist governments had been set up in some of the liberated provinces.

BIG CHIEF TELLS HOW TO MAKE WAR BONNET

This is the second in a series of talks by Chief Tahan to Lowell boys. These talks appear exclusively in The Sun.

BY CHIEF TAHAN
Of Kiowa Indian Tribe

So you boys want the chief to tell you how to make war bonnets like the one he has? And you want to make them right away so that you can wear them today when you go out to play Indian, you say. All right, bring me back the skin of a deer's leg—Oh! that's so, you haven't got those things. Well, then, we'll have to do the best we can. Get an old soft hat, a strip of bright figured cloth a foot long and an inch wide, a big needle and some coarse thread, a dozen or more of the longest feathers of any kind you can. Now, cut the brim of the hat off close to the crown. Sew the feathers an inch from the bottom edge of the through this way: Run your needle through the butt end of each feather—but don't sew the feathers against the hat—leave about half an inch of thread between each one and the hat. Place the feathers about two inches apart—have enough to go all the way around the edge. Next, run your needle through the middle of each feather. Have the thread long enough to go through every one of them, and tie it. This will keep the feathers from flapping around in every direction. Now take your strip of cloth, long enough to go across your forehead from one ear to the other, and sew one edge of it to the edge of the hat. Tack the other edge of the cloth to the hat between the feathers, and there! You have your war bonnet!

In the old days, an Indian's war bonnet meant a good deal to him. For before he could put a single feather in it he had to do some good or brave deed, and he had to get permission of the tribe to make his feather bonnet. Every feather in it stood for something he had done, so that when a warrior was dressed up you could tell what kind of a man he was. It was a good deal like it is with a boy scout. You can tell good things he has done by the badges he wears.

The ninth annual lawn party of the members of the Sacred Heart parish, held on the parish grounds in Moore street Saturday afternoon and evening, was easily the most successful ever carried out by the enterprising young men and women of that section of the city and attracted an attendance that at all times comfortably filled the spacious grounds.

The decorations were both tasteful and artistic and added much to the genuine success of the affair. The visitor was met at the grounds entrance by an arch of flags formed by Old Glory and the flag of the Irish republic. In the evening lighted incense-burners, warming their way in and out among the various booths made the scene even more brilliant.

Once the visitor got within the grounds it seemed that he had arrived on a miniature Coney Island, with its bevy of amusement attractions. Nothing was missing from the encircling "razzle-dazzle" wheel to the "take your pick" tables where one might win anything from a stickpin to a well, perhaps a pair of cuff links. The good judgment of the parish authorities in holding the affair Saturday rather than on the Fourth of July, as had been the custom in past years, was evidenced by the exceptionally large crowd that visited the grounds during the afternoon and evening.

In the early part of the evening motion pictures were taken of those present on the grounds and these will be shown at the next lawn party. There was an informal program of sports

Another argument for bachelors (Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, July 19.—That the tendency toward crime is greater among married persons than those leading a single life seems indicated by statistics gathered by the director of prisons for the last year in which it develops that of those committed to the state prison at Charlestown, where the most flagrant offenders are incarcerated, those who came from the convul rank numbered 59, as against 57 from the single ones.

Of the 116 sent to the prison 58 were born in this country and 58 were natives of Italy, Canada, England, Russia and other places, with the Italians predominating, 23 of that race having been placed under confinement. Of the total, 13 could not read or write, one of these being a native of Massachusetts, seven of Italy, two of Russia, and two undetermined.

The crimes for which they were convicted were: Offenses against the person: Man-slaughter, 8; murder in the second degree, 11; assault to commit a felony, 16; robbery, 8; rape, 10; carnal abuse of a child, 7.

Offenses against property: Breaking and entering, 16; breaking and entering and larceny, 9; having in possession burglarious instruments, 2; larceny, 8; receiving stolen goods, 4; common and notorious thief, 1; arson, 1.

Offenses against public order, etc.: Forgery and uttering, 3; escape, and attempt, 3; incest, 3; sodomy, 2; abortion, 1.

LOCAL LIQUOR MEN IN QUANDARY
No 2.75 per cent beer will be sold in Lowell this week, or for many weeks to come, so several local dealers stated today. The liquor men believe that congress will soon pass the prohibition enforcement bill making it illegal to sell any beverages containing more than half of one per cent alcohol, and therefore they would be taking the longest kind of a chance to ante up $1000 for a first class liquor license, only to be forced to close their doors again in a short time.

Over three-fourths of the liquor dealers have applied at the license commission for first, second or fourth class liquor licenses, which they were assured the commission would grant—subject to federal regulations which allowed the licensee no immunity from any action the federal authorities might take—as soon as the necessary 10-days advertising had been done, and the fees paid.

Several of these licenses, having now been sufficiently advertised could be granted tomorrow subject to the

EARLY MORNING FIRE IN FLETCHER STREET

Spontaneous combustion in a pile of kindling wood, so Chief Saunders believes, was responsible for a lively blaze in the basement of the A. L. Brooks Co. in Fletcher street early this morning. When the fire was discovered at 1:13 o'clock an alarm was sounded from box 15 and when the firemen arrived on the premises they found a lively blaze in back of the boilers in the basement of the building, but the smoke was so dense that it was impossible for anyone to enter the basement to fight the fire.

Several lines of hose were laid and the men fought the flames from the second story, where the fire had worked its way through the partitions. A large portion of the heavy flooring was torn up and streams of water were poured on the blaze below. The firemen were kept on the job over two hours, but they succeeded in extinguishing the flames before great damage had been caused. The all-out signal was sounded at 2:15 o'clock.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

The automobile was being driven by Peter Veres, who claims the accident was unavoidable. It was learned at the hospital this morning that the woman was resting comfortably.

SELLING USED FLIVVERS

If any man or woman in Lowell has a flivver or any other type of used car for sale, the present is a good time to dispose of it. The $300, $400 or $500 used car isn't to be regarded as a luxury any more. With flivver tires selling at about $16 and the average flivver making 21 miles per hour on a gallon of gasoline, this type of car has taken itself out of the luxury class and entered the list of necessary comforts.

The time fare has made extensive car riding prohibitive. There are hundreds of people in Lowell of moderate means who could easily be persuaded to buy a moderate priced used car. There is just one effective way to reach them. The homes of all these people are entered by The Sun. Advertise your used car in the classified department or by more extensive space. The more space you use, the more chance you get to make the sale promptly. Among its readers there are hundreds of families who might buy a used car if you advertise it in

The people of Boston and vicinity, during the strike on the Elevated railway, have had an object lesson on the necessity of proper legal machinery to govern such demands as have been made by the employees.

The strike was settled yesterday and it is estimated that the company lost $200,000 and the men nearly an equal amount in wages during the three days of its existence; but the loss and injury to the public, the merchants, the shoppers and the people who had to walk or pay jitneys to take them to and from work cannot be estimated.

That the strike did not last longer perhaps offers cause for congratulation, but were things as they should be, the strike would never have occurred.

The strikers did not get all they asked but they have won a signal victory and now the company asks how, where or by what means it can raise the amount of the increase.

The day is gone by when such companies can operate under old conditions and the chief reason is that the increase in the cost of labor and material has not been met by a corresponding increase in the revenues.

One of the most serious aspects of the case is, that in the failure of the electric railway systems to make both ends meet, the credit of savings banks, insurance companies and investment institutions is affected in a way that may recoil upon the people who least expect it.

Had the legislature established courts or boards for the arbitration of such questions, this strike and others of a similar kind would not have occurred.

Only a prophet can tell at the present time; but any sensible man can see that the end will be serious unless congress and the state legislatures grapple with these questions and provide an equitable means of settling such troubles.

"To all intents and purposes there will be no air service of the United States after September 1, 1919. On that date only 232 officers of the air service will remain in the service and most of these must be assigned to administrative duties. All the emergency officers who can fly will have gone and the air service will be practically wiped out."

This astounding statement was made on the floor of the senate Friday, by Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the committee on military affairs, who stated that congress had cut the army bill so sharply that this service must be virtually wiped out.

Such a reduction of the army program is indeed hard to imagine. If the air force is cut to the lowest minimum, all emergency fliers discharged and the few remaining officers placed on desk jobs, then army flying must be but a memory. The huge airdromes, built at tremendous cost, will go to ruin; the canvas on thousands of planes will rot and the 10,000 or more commissioned flying pilots will slip back into civil life. Of course, a good many already have been discharged, but there are hundreds still in active service.

The air service is the army's youngest child, quickly grown to manhood, and it is to be cut down and thrown away, just as it squares away for a life of tremendous industry and activity. Commercial aviation will not be affected by any abandonment caused by the slashings of congress, very true, but the work done and progress made will simply be thrown away.

It has often been estimated that it cost the government $50,000 to train one man to become a full-fledged aviator, ready for fighting service. The exigencies of war called for this, of course, but far better might the country cut its infantry and artillery to a mere shadow of its former might, than to wipe out its air service. No military or naval branch ever made quicker or longer strides forward than did the army air service during the period of war. Beginning with nothing, it grew to a huge plant, capable of turning out expert fliers by the hundred weekly, showing an aptitude on the part of the country's youth never before equalled. And according to Senator Wadsworth's admission, all this will be lost if the work is to be abandoned for lack of funds.

A WISE VETO

Gov. Coolidge has very wisely vetoed a measure sent to him for approval which provides that a lawyer who is a member of the general court shall not be required to proceed with cases in which he may be counsel while the legislature is in session.

Of all the unfair and foolish propositions that ever came before the legislature, this is one of the worst. It would hold up legal cases and be instrumental in having them continued from one court session to another and thus, in many instances, allow the witnesses to die or move away before the case could be heard. Moreover, a person who wished to stave off the trial could do so indefinitely by hiring a lawyer who is a member of the legislature. The courts seldom sit during the very hot season in summer, and as the legislature is in session all the rest of the time, it appears that if this bill became law, a case might be held up for a number of years, awaiting the day when the counsel in the case had completed his legislative duties.

In another light, it may be regarded as an attempt to enable a lawyer who is a member of the legislature to straddle two jobs. There are a great many members of the general court who belong to the legal profession and to grant them the privilege sought in this bill would be a serious interference with the work of the courts. It is only a short time ago since court dockets were so crowded that extraordinary sessions had to be held in order to have the cases cleared up. Had this bill become law, the dockets would soon again be crowded and members of the general court might be paid for holding up cases that, according to all the rules of legal procedure, should be promptly tried. Furthermore, it is a rule of the courts that no case shall be continued except by an order from the court.

It is well to allow that practice to stand. Gov. Coolidge performed a simple duty in vetoing this bill. Had he done otherwise, he would have been untrue to the state and would have placed an obstacle to the administration of justice as now carried out in this commonwealth.

BRIGHTEN THE HOME

Having in mind that the anti-prohibitionists have heretofore claimed, among other things, that one reason why the saloon should not be legislated out of existence was because it constituted a social centre for the workingman, we have had our thoughts diverted to the fact that with this "social centre" removed, either permanently or temporarily, as time will show, the workingman's perforce is again thrown back on such entertainment

and social atmosphere as his home can furnish.

Granted that this be true, we know that a new or at least renewed responsibility comes to the woman of the house. The saloon was supposed to be a place where good fellowship and amiability were in the air. One had a seat at a table and, for 75 cents or a dollar, he could keep the white aproned chap going and coming with the amber colored fluid for some time and besides drinking beer he could, if he wished, drink in a vast assortment of gossip, news, knowledge, politics and sport topics.

For one thing we may conceive that perhaps having access to the money her partner used to leave at the saloon, the housewife can use it to brighten up the home with new furnishings and comforts. Why not, for instance, use money formerly spent for liquor to buy a piano or a talking machine on instalments? Or why not use this money to start building a porch which might in time be a place where a Gloucester hammock could be installed?

Men of similar tastes—in beer and intellectuality, we mean—need not be deprived of each other's society just because the saloon has been banned. It is just a question of making the home seem as pleasant to the head of the house as the saloon used to be.

BUILDING PROBLEMS

The building season is now at its height, although there is much yet to be done in the line of repairs and new buildings not yet started.

We have already spoken of many old buildings that might be repaired so as to be suitable for occupancy in the fall. But if anything in this line is to be done, it must be done quickly. Many of those who have been thinking of building new dwellings might fare better if they purchased old buildings and remodelled them. In doing that, they would be adding to the taxable property of the city by making needed improvements.

Nobody need expect any reduction in prices either of labor or material. Up to the first of the year, according to government statistics, the prices of farm produce had advanced 116 per cent over pre-war prices. The corresponding figure for lumber was 73 per cent, while building materials in general advanced 84 per cent. During the same period, the prices of general commodities advanced 113 per cent. There is no ground on which to assume that there will be an early reduction in cost either of building material or of general commodities. The prices have advanced as a result of the inflation of the currency due to the war and the war loans, and it may be many years before a lower level of prices shall have been reached.

Be not afraid or timorous because the English pound note, normally worth $4.86, can now be bought in New York for $4.26. Instead, figure this out. How much would you be gaining if you should buy a pound note at a reduction of 60 cents and should go to England where you could spend it and get the equivalent of $4.86 and buy your living one-third cheaper than you can in America?

The Boston Globe occasionally gets as bloodthirsty as a pirate. Last week, Ed Pointer said he thought it might be a good plan if it could be arranged so that the 3600 undesirable aliens now awaiting deportation, could be shipped on one boat and the officers and crew saved after the boat had been wrecked.

Do you suppose the presence of the following at a Baltimore hotel, one day last week, could help to solve the high cost of feeding its guests, W. J. Pepper, New York; L. A. Egg, Syracuse; W. A. Starch, New York; J. A. Sugar, Chicago; and W. Salt, a New Jersey man?

There is the most urgent need of filling holes along many of our principal streets. Neglect on this point will call for a heavy outlay later. It is almost enough to wreck an automobile to drive it over some of the streets.

Apparently we are to have the highest tax rate in the city's history this year. That may be unavoidable; but in the face of such a contingency, there must be no extravagance in any department.

The ten cent fare is said to have had much to do with the death of professional baseball in Lowell. It is liable to kill other things if it continues much longer.

Have you wondered when Dana Boston would ask Lickson to see what he could do with the L. strike problem by laying on of hands?

Turtle Hunts Popular

"Turtle hunts are the favorite pastime of the folks near Rockdale, Pa." began a returned vacationist who has been seeing America first (also thrice).

"Last week they unearthed a nest of the largest reptiles ever seen in eastern Pennsylvania."

"James Laub found a 25-pound snapper on the railroad tracks skirting the river and soon captured it."

"The next day Robert Frederick saw one fully 10 pounds heavier, but it showed fight and was overpowered only when two other men came to Frederick's assistance."

"And the day after that Henry Mosely ran across one that weighed all of 50 pounds. It, too, gave battle, and 18 shots were fired into it before it turned up its toes."

"But the biggest of all found so far was met on the road along the Lehigh Valley. Andrew Schain came upon it and tied a log chain around the turtle and hitched it to the rear of his automobile, intending to drag the snapper into Rockdale, but the turtle's horse power was greater than Mr. Schain's auto, and next morning the auto was six miles farther from Rockdale than it had been when it met the turtle."

Dear Sir:—Your monthly invoice tendered is joyfully received "as rendered." I take this kindly monthly mention as earnest of your marked attention. My eyes are as heretofore as blighting. Your "Please remit" in your own writing!

Yet, after cursory inspection, I send you invoice for correction; My warm, yes, my sincere advice is that you revise your current prices. If you'll forgive the obvious jest, I'll also add, revise the rest! "Current price" is but one item. Revise them all at intervals. Currants to cabbage, chalk to cheese, Butter to bread and pines to peas.

I trust, sir, that you apprehend me, And should not willingly offend me, And I shall be affronted deeply if your bill lets me off so cheaply.

Do you not comprehend, I wonder. The "overhead" you labor under? And are you slow in realizing that your market-price is daily raising? Your prices are anticipated.

Yet, you submit you to such trouble; I send herein a check for double. Hoping you thus anticipated. Your prices are anticipated.

This settlement, dear sir, I trust is not hostile to your rules of justice.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

It is interesting to listen to some of the western men in uniform who have been stationed at Camp Devens or who have been overseas and assigned to the Ayer cantonment for discharge talking at the local Y.M.C.A. after they have come out of the swimming pool. It has been many a month since a lot of them have had a real swim and Saturday afternoon two doughboys with betraying western twist to their speech announced enthusiastically

Everyone Likes Em' says Bobby

elastically after having a good ducking in the big pool that it "sure felt fine." One of them said that it was a year and a half ago that he had had his last swim down in Atlanta while his pal remarked that it was well over two years since he had been swimming. They were overseas men and evidently had little opportunity to enjoy the beauties of the "ole swimming hole" while in Europe. "When I get home I'll just naturally live in the water as long as I haven't forgotten how to swim," said one of them jubilantly.

You're not going to hear about many crowds of happy picnicers leaving Merrimack square "on a special car" this summer, from present indications. In former seasons hardly a day would pass during July or August but what would have its quota of special car devotees, but this year conditions seem just the reverse. The high cost of car-riding, of course, is the big reason for the change. Instead of crowding into an electric, outing parties now collect a corps of automobiles and whizz away with much more speed than the comparatively plodding electric was ever able to attain. Then, too, one isn't held up at turn-outs or by vehicles that happen to be stretched across the tracks. On the other hand, the possibilities of puncture trouble, blowouts, engine trouble, etc., has to be taken into consideration, but any outing motorists that I have talked with seem inclined to favor the machine to the trolley.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of Lowell Sun, Lowell, Mass.
Dear Sir: On the occasion of the discussion at Paris on the Province of Northern Epirus, may we state that this case in brief for the benefit of those who desire to know the fact about it?

Northern Epirus has a population of 300,000 inhabitants, of whom 120,000 are Christians and 80,000 Moslems. The Christians, with a very negligible number among them demand union with Greece. The Moslems prefer a Moslem Albanian state.

The culture of the Province is Greek. There are in all in Epirus, 260 Greek schools and only one Albanian school with an attendance of 22,595 for the Greek schools, and only 200 for the Albanian school.

This Albanian school is in the city of Korytza. For this reason, the Albanians claim that Korytza is the centre of Albanian culture.

The city of Korytza maintains one Greek college for boys, with 100 students; one Greek girls' high school, with 750 girls; two kindergartens, with an attendance of 700 children of both sexes. In all the Greek schools of Korytza give instruction to 2300 boys and girls. The teaching force consists of 10 professional teachers, 14 female teachers, and five kindergarten instructors, or 44 in all.

The Greek schools for the district of Korytza are 126, with 150 teachers and 1600 pupils. For the same district the Albanians have one school with 200 pupils.

The fact that the boys and girls are sent by their parents to learn Greek rather than Albanian, and to study Greek history rather than Albanian is an irrefutable proof of the will of the Christian Epirotes to be Greeks, and to be united with Greece. Respectfully,

CHRISTOS ZIOGKOS.

Aquitania Docks With Commanders Who Distinguished Themselves Over There

NEW YORK, July 21.—Ten commanders who distinguished themselves with the American Expeditionary Force returned to the United States when the Cunard line steamship Aquitania docked here yesterday.

The party was headed by Lieut. Gen. Hooper Liggatt, commander of the 1st Army Corps, and Maj. Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, who commanded the American Army of Occupation. With them were Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war, who has been in Europe on an aviation mission.

The others in the contingent of military leaders, the largest which has returned upon a single ship were Maj. Gen. George C. Squier, chief of the Signal Corps, and Mason M. Patrick and Brig. Gen. Harold B. Fiske, Harry A. Smith, Wilson D. Buritt, Stuart Heintzelman, Dennis E. Nolan and Joseph C. Castner.

Gen. Liggatt and his companions were met at the pier by Maj. Gen. David C. Shanks, commander of the port of embarkation, who handed them orders from the war department. Gen. Liggatt has been assigned to command the department of the west, with headquarters at San Francisco, and Gen. Dickman to the command of the department of the south with headquarters at San Antonio. Gen. Squier was detailed to air service in Washington; Gen. Fiske, to the command of an infantry regiment; Gen. Castner, to Fort Leavenworth, and the others to duty at the war college in Washington.

Assistant Secretary Crowell, who has attended several conferences at which the future of aviation was discussed, declined to talk on his mission until he has reported to Washington.

It was learned, however, that sweeping changes will be advocated in the aviation plans of the United States.

The chief object, according to the reports, is to divorce aviation from both the war and navy departments and to establish government control of commercial as well as military aerial affairs. In this connection a new cabinet portfolio was mentioned. Mr. Crowell refused to sponsor any of these reports, neither denying nor confirming them.

MRS. WILSON CHECKED BRUTAL TREATMENT

NEW YORK, July 21.—Brutal treatment of American military prisoners in Paris was brought to a sudden check when Mrs. Woodrow Wilson first heard of it, according to John W. Kehoe, a hospital superintendent of the Knights of Columbus, who has just returned from France.

"When Mrs. Wilson first went to Paris she was visiting base hospital 57," said Mr. Kehoe in a report yesterday to William P. Larkin, director of Knights of Columbus overseas activities. "She was called to the cot of a doughboy who displayed numerous welts on his arms and back, saying they were received in a prison camp. Mrs. Wilson told the president and immediately the entire guard staff were brought up on charges and removed. Prisoners are said to have received the best of treatment since that time."

During the past week another injurious garden pest has begun its depredations. It is the squash vine borer, a small white worm with a black head. The writer has observed them in several sections of the county already. When you see a squash vine that has wilted, inspect the stem near the ground and you will notice a large hole eaten into it. If the worm has been at work long enough, the stem of the vine will be decayed. With the blade of a knife slit the stem. You will notice the inside of the caterpillar. The borer can be removed and destroyed and then fresh damp earth should be drawn in around the stem of the plant to cover the wound. As was suggested in last week's article, another way to offset this pest is to cover two or more joints on the main stem with earth so a secondary root system will develop. Then if the borer should infest the plant, it has but a slight chance to destroy it.

It is an old-fashioned and erroneous idea that potatoes should not be cultivated when they are in blossom. Disturbing the blossoms does not affect in any way, the formation of the tubers. Keeping the vines in good, healthy, growing condition is the surest way to insure a good crop. Spraying every two weeks with Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead is quite essential.

Try picking your vegetables in the morning when they are fresh from the dew rather than later in the day when the hot sun has wilted them to quite an extent. It makes a lot of difference. Beans, however, are an exception to the rule. Keep away from them when they are wet from rain or dew as you are quite likely to spread the rust spores from one plant to another.

The melon aphid has been found in several localities this summer. It is a very dark green louse that attacks its great numbers melon and cucumber vines. Use nicotine sulphate spray to control it.

It is a good plan to go over your squash vines every once in a while and fear out the clusters of squash bug eggs that are to be found on the underside of the leaves. This will save you a lot of work later on. The writer has practiced this method of control and finds it to be a most successful one in controlling these insects.

K. OF C. WINS FROM SACO-LOWELL, 6 TO 1

The Knights of Columbus defeated the Saco-Lowell team Saturday on the South common by the score of 6 to 1 after one of the best played games of recent years. Scully and Merrill both pitched excellent ball. Souza's base running, Haggerty's home run and the all round team work of the K. of C. was the feature. Manager Coughlin and Capt. Eddie Cawley of the K. of C. feel that they have the best team in or around Lowell. They would like to meet St. Peter's for a series of three games the winner to meet the victor of the C.C.A.-R. & M. Car Shop series. It's up to Manager Mitchell of St. Peter's.

NOTES OF GAME

Little McGowan on record for the Knights looked great.

Eddie Cawley made two big league plays throwing out sure hits from very awkward positions.

Scully allowed only three hits.

Courtney is a scrappy ball player.

Merrill struck out seven in succession.

Haggerty first man up clouded a long homer. His speed on the bases is dazzling.

Mitchell, the Holy Cross star, had a lot of fun.

Charlie Donohoe made a wonderful catch.

Score cards given through the courtesy of the Merrimack Clothing company were greatly appreciated by the fans.

OTHER GAMES

The Lawrence A.A. won from the Belvidere team at Bunting park in a close and exciting game Saturday by the score of 6 to 5.

The Belvidere won from the Silesia minor league club on Saturday in a splendid contest by the score of 3 to 0.

The batteries were Daley and Edwards for the Belvidere and Davis and Armistead for the Silesia.

The Belvidere would like games with the Matthews and the Knights of Columbus.

WILSON BEATS AHEARN, BOUT CALLED DRAW

Johnny Wilson of Charlestown gave Jake Ahearn, the "dancing master," a boxing lesson in their 13 round bout at the Lawrence ball park Saturday afternoon, but Jack Wagner, who essayed the role of referee called the bout a draw. Wilson, thoroughly disgusted with the award, rushed at Ahearn and gave him a clout on the jaw and was ready to continue his attack, but police officers intervened and escorted the referee from the grounds.

Wagner's decision was unquestionably one of the worst ever given in this vicinity, and Lawrence and Lowell sporting writers as well as about everybody else, present agreed that in only two of the 12 rounds did Ahearn have the advantage. Wilson took the lead right from the start, and he continued to show the way until the ninth. In this round Ahearn came strong and gave Wilson a beating. Again in the tenth Ahearn had the edge, but all others believed that Wilson was the better fighter. Wilson showed that along with being a terrific biter, he also is a clever boxer. Ahearn is not as one of last champion tried to hit him in this section, but Wilson had him baffled. Wilson was out to win, and kept boring in all the way. He went at Ahearn and sent over heavy body and head blows and after opening a cut under Ahearn's left eye kept banging at the injured optic with damaging effect.

Ahearn surprised many by his remarkable ability to assimilate punishment. He took many heavy blows on the body and head, but always shook his head down. Ahearn tried to straighten him up with well directed upper cuts, but Johnny stepped away and few landed.

After the last round all at the ringside had agreed that Jake was beaten, and when the referee ruled otherwise a near riot took place.

The card was very good, and Scotty McGee, who refereed, pleased the majority with his awards.

Paul Doyle, of New York, who will meet Johnny Morris, the Y.D. welterweight champion at the Crescent ring on Thursday night, was introduced at Lawrence Saturday, by Announcer Ben Kaveney and he received a great hand.

In addition to the Doyle-Morris bout, Bill McDermott of the C.C.A.A. has a perfect record in three games. Figures of the local players follow:

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The Spark Divine," with adorable Alice Joyce as the star, will be one of the big features in the program at The Strand for the first three days of the week, starting with matinee today.

The story is considered one of the most human and absorbing ones of the time, and should meet with general favor by all. H. B. Warner, the eminent English actor, will be seen in "The Man Who Turned White," a picture creation that is said to have all of the elements that go in the making of a thoroughly satisfying screen offering.

The soloist for the week will be Mildred Efford, whose past appearances here were raved with the real song successes of the season, and the remainder of the bill will be made up of a good comedy and an excellent and instructive weekly.

Patrons are once again reminded of the fact that only super-productions are shown as our feature offerings here, and not the program variety. The Strand is the "coolest spot in town." That's one of many reasons why lovers of the best prefer The Strand.

Keep your eye on the pony contest. The leadership has been changing daily. It's developed into a neck-and-neck race.

DON'T SELL YOUR BONUS APPLICATION BLANK
Lowell's returned service men are warned to be on the lookout for "sharks" operating in Massachusetts cities called after the fashion of the so called Liberty bond "sharks."

Welfare workers today here said that in a number of places these unscrupulous men, and in some cases women, were showing up in a town or city and after obtaining the addresses of service men would visit them and offered cash in hand for the filled out war bonus application blank. The usual price in other places where the evil has come to light, has been $5 or less for this document which calls for payment of $100 to the service man from the state.

State officials have announced that at present there is no existing law which prevents a service man from selling his application and after he has sold it, the person who bought it can show up at the state treasurer's office and procure the $100 called for.

Frank H. Pope, supervisor of loan agencies says that even in the loans being made on these application blanks, he has no jurisdiction except that should evidence come to him that the rate of interest was usurious, he could immediately prosecute as is done in every other similar instance.

As near as The Sun can at this time learn, Lowell service men should begin to receive their $100 war bonus checks from the state treasurer's office commencing the first week in August. Service men should certainly not do business with people trying to buy their applications at a bargain price and a discount amounting to as much as $15 or $25. There is no doubt but that in cases of extreme necessity for a service man or his family some of the Lowell welfare and war work organizations, notably the Red Cross after care department or the War Camp Community service headquarters, should be appealed to and, having met every other contingency of a similar nature, can probably help the service man secure a temporary loan. What holds true for the men of course holds true for women who served in the war.

FOUR PER CENT BEER NOT INTOXICATING
PANAMA, Saturday, July 19.—President Porras, in a decree issued today prohibiting the supplying of intoxicating drinks to members of the army and navy of the United States, declares that "beer containing not more than 4 per cent alcohol will not be classed as an intoxicating liquor."

RECOVER STOLEN BELGIAN MACHINERY
BRUSSELS, July 21.—(By the Associated Press)—The work of recovering stolen Belgian machinery from Germany, is proceeding in full swing. Approximately 3000 tons of machinery are being shipped back weekly to the original owners by German industrial firms which set them up in their own factories. The total tonnage returned on July 1, was 18,000.
